

SINCLAIR FALLS TO OFFER FALL'S STORY OF BRIBE

Defense Rests Its Case in Surprise Move and Defends Action; Arguments Started.

JURY WILL RETIRE BEFORE WEEK ENDS

Oil Magnate Does Not Take Stand; Counsel Says Everhart Has Told Entire Story.

Washington, April 19.—(AP)—The taking of testimony in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair was concluded today after the defense suddenly rested its case after placing on the stand character witnesses who said that the oil man's reputation for honesty and fair dealing was good.

The action was most surprising to the government prosecutors, who had expected that the long deposition taken by Sinclair's counsel from Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, would be introduced and that Sinclair might testify in his own defense. The deposition was not produced, defense counsel said, because evidence which it had been expected the government would introduce was not offered.

Arguments Today.

Closing arguments will be made tomorrow, with the prospect that the case will reach the jury by noon Saturday.

Defense counsel announced that Sinclair was not placed on the stand because M. T. Everhart, of Pueblo, Colo., son-in-law of Fall, had told the story of the Liberty bond transaction between the two principals as the oil man himself would have told it.

Everhart's Testimony.

Everhart, as a government witness, had admitted receiving from Sinclair for Fall $233,500 in bonds and $23,000 in cash which he contended was in payment for a third interest in Fall's ranch holdings. The government has maintained that the sum constituted a bribe to Fall in return for the Teapot Dome lease. R. W. Ragland, of Sinclair's counsel, filed before Justice Jennings Bailey some time ago an affidavit setting forth that Fall would tell the same story of the receipt of the bonds if allowed to testify.

Rebuttal Offered.

As soon as the defense counsel had concluded, Owen J. Roberts, special government prosecutor, offered a rebuttal, consisting chiefly of documents.

SEVEN MEET DEATH AS WAVE UPSETS SKIFF IN RIVER

Savannah, Tenn., April 19.—(AP)—Seven employees of the Kershaw Contracting company, of Birmingham, Ala., including B. M. Sloan, superintendent of construction, engaged in building the highway bridge across Tennessee river here, were drowned at 6 p. m. today when a small motor boat in which they had set out across the river was submerged by waves.

Two hundred men and all the motor and tow boats available were dragging the river tonight, but none of the bodies had been recovered at 10 p. m. Besides Sloan, the dead are: Frank Paulk, engineer, Savannah; Ellis Scull, carpenter, from Indiana, and four negroes from Selmer, Tenn. The names of the negroes are not yet available.

The entire party, except one, which left the ferry landing on the Cherry Mansion side of the river was drowned about 50 feet off shore when waves, whipped by a strong northwest wind, leaped over the sides of the boat and dragged it under. One of the party of eight, a negro, held to the rear of the boat as it went under, and was picked up by Bob Quinn, ferryman, who rushed out to the scene in another boat as soon as the cry went up for help.

CONGRESS STRIVES TO END COOLIDGE FLOOD OPPOSITION

Several Conferences Develop Amendments To Be Offered Today Before Final Vote.

Washington, April 19.—(AP)—President Coolidge late today took under advisement the proposed revision of the senate $225,000,000 flood control bill which had been drafted after a series of conferences between house republican leaders and flood control proponents in an effort to meet the chief executive's objections to the bill.

Meanwhile on the house floor the measure was brought to the verge of the amendment stage with only 20 minutes of the lengthy debate program remaining before the amendments are considered. The house leaders hope to proceed through the amending of the measure by tomorrow and reach a final vote on Saturday.

Mr. Coolidge was presented the proposed revisions at a conference at the white house by Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, Chairman Madden, of the appropriations committee, and Chairman Snell, of the rules committee. Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, also attended the white house meeting.

The proposed changes of the bill, outlined by Mr. Tilson, include the placing of the cost of the main Mississippi river upon the states instead of the federal government and the diminishing of the proposed planning board of the flood project from five members to three members, the chief of engineers, president of the Mississippi river commission and one civilian. The bill in its present form would have the federal government pay for the entire work.

That the president "took the matter under advisement" was the only statement Mr. Tilson and the other committee members made on leaving the white house. They would not say when the president would make known his decision.

Many Agree to Changes.

Mr. Tilson, however, did disclose that the proposed changes of the measure had been agreed to by several Mississippi valley senators and representatives and were acceptable to Chairman Reid, of the house flood control committee, who is piloting the bill through the house. Reid later declared that "I have not agreed to any proposal revisions and have not been advised about them."

Chairman Reid, of the flood control committee, said today.

ATLANTA IS HELD AFTER AUTO KILLS WOMAN AT AURORA

Dahlonega, Ga., April 19.—(Special)—Mrs. Martha Chapman, an aged woman who had been living at Aurora, six miles south of Dahlonega, was struck and almost instantly killed near her home late Wednesday when an automobile said to have been driven by Luther Robertson, of Atlanta, struck her on the road.

Robertson, who gave his address at 182 South Forsyth street, Atlanta, was lodged in the Lumpkin county jail for action by the grand jury, which is now in session.

Homer L. Robinson, of 182 South Forsyth street, Thursday night said that his son, Lester Robinson, 19, left Atlanta Sunday with the expressed intention of going north or west. Robinson said that he has not heard from his son since Sunday and he does not know whether the "Luther Robinson" reported held at Dahlonega is his son or not. Lester Robinson did not leave Atlanta by automobile, his father said.

UNION IS PLANNED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Merger Move Begun Two Years Ago To Be Furthered at Meeting Here in May.

A move begun two years ago for a union of the Presbyterian church in the United States and the United Presbyterian church will be furthered at the general assembly of the former body here May 17-24. The report of an ad interim committee on closer relations to other Presbyterian groups. This report, made public Thursday, will submit to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S., a southern branch of the denomination, a tentative creedal statement, constitution and by-laws looking toward union with the United Presbyterian church, a northern branch.

Under the committee's plan, the basis of the coalition in turn will be submitted to constituent presbyteries of each denomination at the fall meetings with requests for advice or amendments. At the same time, the ad interim committee will ask the assembly to be continued another year and to approve the appointment of fraternal delegates to the United Presbyterian church meeting in St. Louis.

Doherty and Campbell.

These delegates, who also have been authorized in a similar capacity by the meeting of the general assembly in 1929, are Dr. W. R. Doherty, of Birmingham, Ala., and Dr. R. F. Campbell, of Asheville, N. C.

The movement toward the union started at the general assembly meeting in Pensacola, Fla., in May, 1926, in response to overtures seeking the appointment of the ad interim committee on closer relations of the United Presbyterians and the Associated Re-

Sofia Again Victim of Temblors and Natives Flee Houses as Walls Crash, Reports State.

HALF-HOUR SHOCKS FOR SEVEN DAYS

Death Toll Is Unknown as Check Regarded Futile Until all of Jarring Completed.

Sofia, Bulgaria, April 19.—(AP)—A population aghast with despair and fear was pictured tonight in reports from the Philippopolis district, visited last night by the second shattering earthquake within a week. Almost 100,000 persons are shelterless and more than two-score are known to have lost their lives.

Their homes are in ruins, their possessions gone, their highways broken. Bridges have been destroyed and railway tracks twisted awry on rights of way that have sunk six feet in spots. The changed face of nature shows whole hills moved and their contours altered. In places underground reservoirs have broken through and are spouting water and sand, like miniature geysers.

Dead Are Uncounted.

The dead are uncounted because of the interruptions to communications and the disorganization of local governments. But in Philippopolis there are more than 20 dead and 60 of the more than 100 injured there are in serious condition. In five villages near that city 27 persons were killed and scores injured. Sadava, seat of a school of agriculture and model farms, was destroyed.

Borisovgrad, which suffered severely in the previous quake, again was devastated.

In Philippopolis only the higher parts of the city are habitable. The other sections were crashed into ruin.

Quakes Are Rapid.

And the quakes continue. In some sections there have been tremors on an average of a half-dozen to the hour. Each fresh shock has been echoed by falling wall or chimney or witnessed by fresh cracks in the sturdy structures which resisted the earlier attacks upon their stability.

The shocks have been felt regularly at Thracian, center of the heavy quakes of the last Sunday, but the situation there has not been increased materially.

People throughout the stricken districts are in a state of deplorable destitution. Many have gone insane. Government and charitable agencies are trying to bring order in the chaos of the King Boris in the field in person. He has as his immediate assistants Premier Laptcheff and M. Vassileff, minister of public works. They are sending every energy toward relieving one of the most serious disasters ever experienced in Bulgaria.

MAN STOPS TRIAL TO ANNOUNCE HE HAS SLAIN ENEMY

Lebanon, Tenn., April 19.—(AP)—Frank Babb startled the judge and spectators in circuit court here this afternoon when he walked in and calmly announced that he had killed A. L. Lawing of Memphis.

Lawing, mortally wounded, was found on the porch of the home of W. B. McDowell, with five bullet wounds in his body and died before a physician could be summoned.

Babb surrendered to B. W. Cicrett, deputy sheriff, and was booked on a charge of murder, pending a hearing. Babb, who operates a poolroom here, said that he shot Lawing to avenge a wrong to his sister five years ago.

Lawing is survived by his widow and a daughter who reside in Memphis, and a son, Tom Lawing, of Monticello, Ky.

DEADLOCK SEEN ON JUNIOR HIGH 5TH WARD SITE

Bond Body Returns Unapproved to School Board Proposal To Buy Strip on Bankhead.

EDUCATION BOARD WILL MEET TODAY

Commissioner Maddox and Alderman Couch To Fight for Location Already Selected.

Probability that the Atlanta board of education, city council and the Atlanta bond commission will become deadlocked over purchase of a site in the fifth ward on which to locate one of the two new junior high schools authorized by the three bodies, loomed Thursday when the bond commission returned unapproved to the board a proposal to buy a strip on Bankhead avenue.

Details of the impending impasse were learned at a special meeting of the board of education which was called to consider amendment of the board resolution providing for acquisition of the second site in the southeastern section of the city.

On motion of representatives of the fifth ward in the board, action on both strips was deferred until a special called session of the board at 6 o'clock this afternoon at the city council chamber.

Leaded Distribution Approved.

The only transactions of the board were granting permission for distribution among school children of leaflets urging citizens of the city to vote in the city primary of June 6, and an announcement by John T. Hancock, school commissioner of the eighth ward and chairman of the current expenditures committee of the board, that newspaper publication of alleged shortages in the military equipment of the Tech High school had brought the matter to the attention of the committee and that a full report would be made at the next regular meeting of the board May 8. He called a special meeting of the committee to meet at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Contending that citizens of the ward in cooperation with school administration heads have selected the Bankhead highway site for establishment of the school, which has been quoted at a price of $40,000, as the most logical and best situated in that district, James W. Maddox, school commissioner from the fifth ward, and Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth, a member of the board by virtue of being chairman of the school committee of council, held that they

(Special Dispatch to Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) (Copyright, 1928, in All Countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Ford Airport, Dearborn, Mich., April 19.—The official Bremen relief plane put at the disposal of the New York city reception committee by the North American Newspaper Alliance, will take off from this airport at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning on the first leg of its flight to Greenland.

By 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon this giant tri-motor Ford ship, on its errand of succor and good will in behalf of the North American Newspaper Alliance, of which The Constitution is the only member in Atlanta, is expected to have completed an 800-mile non-stop flight up the valley of the St. Lawrence to Murray Bay. There, 75 miles beyond Quebec, it will take aboard the needed repair parts for the Bremen.

Last Leg Saturday.

Saturday, the great ship with its world famous co-pilots, Floyd Bennett and Bert Balchen, expect to shore off on a non-stop flight to Greenland island. Aboard will be a Junkers mechanic who under the direction of Baron Gunter von Huenefeld and Captain Hermann Koehl, will try to bring the Bremen into flying condition.

The correspondent for The Constitution also will be on the plane, which is a sister ship of Commander Richard E. Byrd's "Antarctic plane."

The primary purpose of the expedition is to take to the stranded Germans the replacement parts they imperatively need to enable them to continue the Bremen's flight, so rudely interrupted, to New York city, for the great reception which awaits them there.

But if it becomes manifest that repairs are impossible—that the Bremen cannot proceed out of Greenland island under its own power, the Ford plane will carry the Germans back to that civilization with which they have lost all touch, save for telegraph and wireless, since they took off from Baldonnel aerodrome.

Los Angeles, April 19.—(AP)—Dolores Del Rio, motion picture star, left late today for Nogales, Ariz., on the Mexican border with the announced intention of filing suit for divorce against her husband, Jaime Del Rio, from whom she separated last December.

BREMEN TO LAND AT MITCHEL FIELD EARLY NEXT WEEK

Fitzmaurice Says Funds Needed Badly; Repair Parts Will Take Three Days for Assembling.

New York, April 19.—(AP)—The trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen and its German-Irish crew will arrive in New York Monday or Tuesday if the hopes of the expedition's sponsor are realized.

"Intend by all means coming by Bremen," Baron Von Huenefeld telegraphed the North German Lloyd offices here today from Greenland island.

"Plane, thanks to devoted assistance Cuisinier and his company (Canadian Trans-Continental Airways), soon clear for start. Hope arrive New York Monday or Tuesday. Will telegraph time start. Intermediate landing probable."

It was believed the intermediate landing would be made at Murray Bay, where a new supply of fuel could be obtained.

FITZMAURICE CAME OUT TO GET MONEY.

Lake St. Agnes, Murray Bay, Que., April 19.—(AP)—Major James Fitzmaurice told an Associated Press correspondent today that it was decided to send him out to civilization from Greenland island instead of one of his German companions on the ocean flight in the Bremen because money was the chief need "and they thought I, being an Irishman, might be able to jolly more out of people."

He laughed at his joke and then turned serious again, and told the reason why he had been selected to go to the outer world.

"We don't flip a coin to decide it," he said, commenting on previous news dispatches, "my companions agreed that it would be better for me to come because I alone could speak English well."

"What did we need money for? Well, we knew that we would need it to pay for the labor to repair the Bremen ship and the other things we needed money to buy new outfits of clothing. We did not have a clean shirt between us. And, of course, in addition to that we knew we would have to spend money in order to secure repair parts for the plane."

Fitzmaurice said he hoped to have the necessary repair parts for the Bremen shipped to Greenland island and within 24 hours.

"Within three days of the arrival of the new propeller and other parts," he said, "I expect that the Bremen will be ready to take off for New York city."

Fitzmaurice learned for the first time from the Irish government correspondent, that the Irish government had made him a major.

"Don't call me major," he said after the term had been repeated several times. "I am only a commandant."

"Oh, you are not," the correspondent told him. "You are a major. Didn't you know that you had been promoted?"

Koehl Interests.

Major Fitzmaurice said there was no difficulty on the flight because of difference of language. Captain Koehl spoke enough English, he said, to serve as interpreter when Fitzmaurice and

Piedmont Park Rally Climaxes 'Clean Up' Meets

A "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" campaign rally in Piedmont park Thursday, climaxed by the cleaning of the historic Peace monument, concluded the series of sectional "clean-up" meetings scheduled for this week and launched a permanent, city-wide clean-up campaign for the north side, as was done earlier in the week for the south side, West End and east side of Atlanta.

Acting Mayor Claude Ashley and Chief John Jentzen, of the city sanitary department, spoke briefly to urge the housewives of Atlanta to cooperate with the sanitary department in eliminating delay and waste time in the collection and disposal of garbage and in preventing spread of filth and disease through observance of the city ordinance requiring all garbage to be placed in covered garbage cans.

Mrs. W. R. Pritchard, president of the Atlanta Women's club; Mrs. J. R. Little, chairman of the civic division of the Woman's club, and director general of the city cleanup campaign; Councilman John A. White, chairman of the council parks committee, and L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks department, were present to give out the city cleanup paint-up campaign headquarters Thursday, including Phillips & Crew Piano Co., the Cameo theater and others, in addition to the Fulton Reservoir, Fulton National and Georgia Savings Bank buildings, the Throver building and Loew's Grand.

Committees of the Atlanta Real Estate board and Junior Chamber of Commerce are working with Chief Jentzen to induce local real estate owners to clean up and beautify vacant lots, many of which are now used as informal dumping grounds.

Several additional downtown buildings were registered for "clean-up" at campaign headquarters Thursday, including Phillips & Crew Piano Co., the Cameo theater and others, in addition to the Fulton Reservoir, Fulton National and Georgia Savings Bank buildings, the Throver building and Loew's Grand.

'DRAFT COOLIDGE' MOVE GAINS MORE HEADWAY

is a growing expectation that the race by July 4 will be actually set between Coolidge and Smith.

That does not mean that the president wishes such a condition to come about. He has strong personal and family reasons why he wishes to leave the white house, but he may yet find stronger reasons for making a race to remain there.

It is pointed out that there are two considerations that may cause him to recall his "I don't choose" decision. One is the threat of a Smith succession, as above mentioned, and the other is the way in which the insurgents and democrats in congress are "kicking his dogs around," as Champ Clark would remark.

Treated Scandalously.

The Coolidge policies are being treated scandalously, in the opinion of the president's friends, and they yet be goaded into consent to go to the country in vindication of his administration and of the positions he holds in the event that legislative programs that congress is enacting.

It has come to the writer that Secretary Mellon and those who will follow his leadership are preparing to hold the balance of power at Kansas City. In the event that Hoover is opposed on the ground of his pledge to carry on the Coolidge policies, the president will be run in at the psychological moment, and the party standard be handed to him with a whoop and hurrah.

Suspicion that such is the program ahead is exciting the anti-administration crowd and may lead to a coalition that will eventually nominate Lowden, or Dawes—which of them can most surely command the needed majority.

Smith Claims Attacked.

The democratic camp is also in a state of active ferment. The inflated claims of the Smith managers are being savagely attacked by the Reed, Walsh, George, and other contingents. Senator Reed breezed in from the west and southwest today with "blood" in his eye. He represents the listing of delegates known to favor him as sure things in the event that Hoover is reported as ready to rally and consolidate the anti-Smith people, without regard to his personal fortunes in the fight.

If he has been pulled toward the Smithites up to date he is done with any Alphonse and Gaston gestures from now forward. He has discovered that Smith's friends are not over-scrupulous about knifing him whenever they can.

Therefore, his lieutenants say, he is ready to take them on for a real hammer-and-sledge fight to the finish. But whether he can rally and consolidate an effective anti-Smith opposition, sufficient in numbers and nerve to buck Smith to a far-away well at Houston, remains to be developed by the evidences and events just ahead.

Smith Sniping Falls.

It is freely admitted now that the sniping campaign against Smith has been a failure as yet. If he is to be headed off at all, it must be by an early and efficient gathering of all the anti-Smith elements around some one popular and powerful opponent.

It is feared by many leaders, however, that this resolution and policy is coming too late to be potentially realized.

One eminent senator said today "the easiest and surest way to democratic victory, in my candid opinion, is for the party to nominate a big southern democrat, like George, and challenge the eastern and western democrats to make the party truly national by electing him."

WIVES OF GEORGIA SENATORS HOSTESSES.

The wives of the Georgia senators, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. George, were hostesses at a brilliant reception tea.

Halliburton To Lecture On Romantic Life Tonight

Richard Halliburton, most popular of travel authors, most glamorous of modern world adventures and most fascinating of raconteurs, will lecture on his remarkable experiences at the Wesley Memorial auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Halliburton, a native of Memphis, has achieved more romantic quests in all parts of the world than any other man of his age ever recorded. He set out to circumnavigate the globe on his own resources, immediately after graduation from Princeton. He determined, in his wanderings, to duplicate, as far as he could, the romantic stories of classic lore, and the result was a mass of experience that, in his books and on the lecture platform, has charmed tens of thousands of Americans.

Such deeds as the swimming of the Hellespont, where Leander swam to meet his lovely Hero; the running of the marathon over the ancient Greek course; climbing Mount Olympus and tracing the course of Homer's Iliad with only the classic things that Halliburton did.

He penetrated into the heart of India and tells a wonderful story of the romance of a high-caste Hindu maid.

He went to Tibet and penetrated to the innermost recesses of the most sacred temple, helping the chief priest to feed and wash and rock to sleep the sacred baby lama. He visited an ancient tribe in Mongolian wilds, where each wife has half a dozen or more husbands.

All these adventures he will tell tonight in his lecture, "Royal Roads to Romance."

Tickets will, of course, be on sale at Wesley Memorial from 7 to 8:30 o'clock, but all who wish to avoid the tedium of standing in line, and who desire early choice of seats, may procure them at any one of a number of the leading downtown stores, any time during business hours today.

For the Georgia delegates to the D. A. R. congress. It came off this afternoon at the Congressional club and was attended by the Georgia visitors and local colonists in full complement, and the occasion was enjoyed with zest and delight by the ladies, who are both enormously popular in the state and social circles of the capital and no occasion is omitted when the Georgians can gather to do them honor.

DUELL-GISH SUIT BROUGHT TO TRIAL

Los Angeles, April 19.—(AP)—Charles H. Duell's $5,000,000 suit for alleged breach of contract brought against Lillian Gish, film star, went to trial before a jury in superior court here today. Many screen luminaries waited to be called as witnesses.

Duell, former business manager of Miss Gish, sued unsuccessfully for damages in the New York courts some months ago. Prior to the opening of that action, he announced that he and Miss Gish were engaged to marry, but she denied this.

In the present action Duell alleges that he raised Miss Gish to fame and stardom in "The White Sister" but that she broke her contract with him after he had spent $75,000 on a second production.

WORK OF FLIPPER IN GEORGIA GIVEN A. M. E. APPROVAL

"There is no detour in religion," Bishop J. S. Flipper, L. L. D., declared Thursday morning in his address to the ministers of the Atlanta district conference in its second day session in Turner Chapel A. M. E. church.

"The majority of ministers and laymen who have studied science are endeavoring to find another way to serve God rather than the way the Bible teaches. They are trying to reduce the teaching of Jesus Christ to human reasoning and their failure is inevitable."

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. H. E. Thornton, who chose "Faith," as his subject.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted endorsing the administration of Bishop Flipper, who has been presiding in Georgia for 16 years and advocating his return for the next quadrennium. Rev. J. A. Hadley was approved for bishop for the foreign field and Dean W. G. Alexander and Dr. J. L. Butler for home work, to be elected at the general conference, which convenes in Chicago, May 1928.

The conference was addressed by Rev. C. A. Wingfield, A. C. Danford, J. W. Wiggs, E. V. Thornton and J. R. Fleming, who spoke of the religious work being done by the A. M. E. church in the south. The missionary sermon was delivered in the afternoon by Rev. C. D. Thornton.

Rev. W. J. Williams, president of the conference, said Morris Brown university was in need of $100,000 for extension of its work.

Friday morning's session will be featured by the annual address by Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, who will discuss the "Condition of the Public Schools in the City and State."

City Hospitals To Be Inspected For Fire Hazards

Survey of Battle Hill sanitarium and Grady hospital in an effort to ascertain the fire hazards and to evolve a system of eliminating them as far as is physically possible, will begin at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Pointing out that a fire at either of the city-owned and operated institutions probably would be disastrous and that many lives would be endangered members of a special committee met Thursday afternoon at the city hall and mapped out the survey which will be conducted by engineers representing the Southeastern Underwriters' association and G. Everett Millican, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of city council.

B. Graham West, city comptroller; Allen Schoen, chief engineer of the underwriters' organization; W. E. Harrington, of the Spraying-Harmonizing and Thomas Insurance company; Clyde M. Wood, of the Automatic Sprinkler company and Fire Chief William B. Cody, attended the meeting Thursday.

The survey today will be held to review the physical properties, the fire fighting apparatus which it was said is extremely limited and to make recommendations back to the hospitals and charities committee and other council bodies with a view of obtaining sufficient appropriations to reduce danger to a minimum.

HANCOCK COUNTY MULELESS FARM DRAWS INTEREST

Sparta, Ga., April 19.—(Special.) John W. Sanders, owner of the old Rhodes plantation, near here on the Sparta and Jewell road, has created considerable interest here among the farmers of the county in his plan this year "to raise an entire crop of cotton, corn and other crops without the use of mules at all, the entire work to be done by tractors." Mr. Sanders has used tractors for several years but has always before supplemented the work with mules. This season, though, he has eliminated the mules altogether and will work with the tractors and various power implements to be drawn by it throughout the growing and cultivating season. He will carry the idea on through the harvesting season. If this experiment is successful in Hancock the Georgia mule will no doubt begin to vanish from the farms here, just as the truck is gradually taking their place for hauling on the highways. Much interest is felt here in the above new venture and many farmers are watching to see if it will be a success this fall.

Vandiver Declines To Be Candidate For Lower House

Rome, Ga., April 19.—(Special.)—John M. Vandiver, commissioner of revenue for Georgia, who has been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for congress from the seventh district, in opposition to Congressman M. C. Tarr, is authority for the statement that he will not be a candidate and that he will do everything he can for Judge James Maddox in the event the judge enters the race. Mr. Vandiver is one of the most prominent men in the seventh district and as revenue commissioner he has made an enviable record and has been highly complimented by state officials and individuals who come in contact with his department.

OPERA, ROSE SHOW CAUSE RAILROADS TO REDUCE RATES

Thomasville, Ga., April 19.—(Special.)—Thomasville people think the railroad corporations are paying this city a big compliment just at present.

The carriers are advertising a round trip railroad rate of $6 to Thomasville from Atlanta, Savannah, Jacksonville, Fla., and Montgomery, Ala., for those desiring to attend the annual Thomasville rose show on April 27, and at the same time are advertising a round trip for the same week from Thomasville to Atlanta, for those desiring to attend grand opera, of $13.32.

LINDBERGH VISITS FORD'S AIR SHOW AND TAKES A RIDE

Detroit, April 19.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh visited the "flying headquarters" of the all-American aircraft show at the Ford airport today and went aloft in a tri-motor Ford plane for a flight of 20 minutes above the field.

With Major Thomas G. Lanphier, the Lone Eagle was a guest of Edsel Ford and other Ford officials at a luncheon at the airport.

Colonel Lindbergh, who flew here yesterday from St. Louis in his new Ryan monoplane, visited the aircraft show at convention hall after the closing hour of the exposition late last night. He is the guest of Major Lanphier at Selfridge field. He said he is here for an "indefinite visit."

Alleged Slayer Found To Have Wife in Georgia

Inverness, Fla., April 19.—(AP)—Gus C. Echols, former Tampa detective, indicted for murder in connection with the death of Mrs. F. A. Carselle, Jefferson, Ga., and has a wife there. Another wife, divorced, also resides there.

These statements were made today by Henry Davis, Jefferson attorney; C. H. Duke, Jefferson special investigator, and F. N. Edwards, Commerce, Ga., Mrs. Carselle's son-in-law, who came here at the request of Citrus county authorities to identify the prisoner.

Mrs. Carselle's body was found April 5 in her automobile near Hernando. Sheriff B. O. Bowden said he had evidence indicating that Mrs. Carselle and Echols had married under assumed names and that he was to accompany her from Tampa, where she spent the winter.

Echols was arrested in Tampa the day after the body was found. Date for his trial may be set today at a conference of attorneys and local authorities.

Y.W.C.A. MEMBERS ASK 'FACTS OF LIFE'

Sacramento, Calif., April 19.—(AP)—A demand that they be told the "facts of life" which their mothers are too reticent to tell them, was made by a group of Girl Reserves in a discussion with secretaries, committeewomen and advisers at the biennial national Y. W. C. A. convention here yesterday.

They came from San Francisco and other coast cities and they declared they had been brought up "like topsy," left to find out essential facts as they might. They demanded information to permit them, to form their own conclusions and decisions in what they termed "this frank and modern age."

Chief interest of the convention centered in the lineup of a ticket of officers. The election will be held tomorrow. It was indicated that there would be no contest for president as Mrs. John M. Hanna, of Dallas, Texas, was expected to be reelected for another two-year term.

Mrs. Charles W. Gilkey, Chicago, is seeking reelection as vice president with little prospect of opposition. The four candidates for the other secretaries are: Miss Julia M. Gamble, of New York; Miss Edna Porter, Houston, Texas; Miss Thelma Rinker, Denver, and Miss Louise Wildy, Minneapolis.

SMITH CANDIDACY PUT BEFORE STATE LABOR CONVENTION

Macon, Ga., April 19.—(AP)—The Georgia Federation of Labor in annual session here today heard a lengthy communication from the New York federation endorsing Governor Al Smith for the presidential nominee.

O. E. Petri, president of the Georgia federation, ruled that the document be received as information and no action was taken in regard to endorsing Governor Smith.

L. P. Marquardt, secretary of the Georgia federation, read his annual report at the morning session showing that ten new organizations had been added to the federation since the last session.

Miss Eleanor Raul, Atlanta, president of the State League of Women Voters; E. Kaufman, representing the Garment Workers of America, and Edward Rivers, president pro tem of the Georgia state senate, were among speakers today.

The visitors attended a barbecue during the afternoon.

Two Miners Killed.

Marchmont, Pa., April 19.—(United News)—Nicholas Maliska, 38, and Wash Chermak, 36, miners, were instantly killed today by an explosion in the No. 3 colliery of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company at Nesquehoning, near here.

BANKERS COMPLETE AUGUSTA MEETING

Augusta, Ga., April 19.—(AP)—Members of the executive council of the American Bankers' association today had completed their annual spring meeting a day ahead of schedule, due to the rapidity with which its committees functioned.

Outstanding among action taken at the three-day session ending last night were rejection for the present of plans to reorganize the association and passage of a resolution endorsing the Jones flood relief bill recently passed by the United States senate. The Norbeck bill in the senate which would remove certain restrictions on state rights in taxing banks was opposed by the council.

The executive meetings were concluded with a rush yesterday and a banquet at which Dr. Emerson Ford, of New York, was principal speaker was the final function.

Members were leaving for their homes today in increasing numbers, although some were remaining for the week-end sports program.

'Blue Heron' Club To Provide Garden Spot for Sportsmen

Brunswick, Ga., April 19.—(Special)—Announcement was made here today that at a meeting to be held on May 1 at the Henry Grady hotel in Atlanta, organization of the new "Blue Heron" club will be perfected.

The men interested in the formation of this new sportsman's club include some of the most prominent living Georgians and completion of the club's organization and launching of its active operation is a matter of primary interest in all parts of the state.

The "Blue Heron" club was formed following acquisition, by a group of leading sportsmen, of Hillery Island, which is located eight miles northwest of the city at the confluence of the river and Hillery creek. Since its purchase by this group some months ago the name of the island has been changed to "Blue Heron Island," hence the name of the club.

Hunting and Fishing Club. The new club is to be an exclusive hunting and fishing club with unusual features. Blue Heron is in the center of a group of estuaries and the rivulets whose fame as a fisherman's paradise extends into every section of the country where anglers are found. These waters are noted for containing every species of salt water fish as well as abounding in oysters, crabs, shrimp and other sea foods indigenous to the Georgia coast. The island itself, like its neighbors, St. Simons, Jekyll and Glynn islands, is an ideal spot. It is sheltered under towering oaks, stately pines and picturesque palms.

In addition to the magnificent fishing facilities, waterfowl and duck are found at the island in large numbers. Arrangements are also to be made for the members to hunt deer, quail and other game on near-by premises.

The list of charter members of the club includes more than 200 of the conspicuous leaders in the business, professional and political affairs of the state. It includes a United States senator, a former governor of the state, a supreme court justice, a federal judge, several congressmen, many superior court judges, editors of the leading daily papers, various federal officers, statehouse officers and other leading citizens from all sections of Georgia.

Clubhouse Planned. Plans already have been made for immediate construction of an ideal, modern clubhouse and for the erection of wharves along the water front. Necessary boats and other equipment also are to be purchased, while the island as a whole will be beautified by landscaping, with the view of making the entire island a garden spot for its members.

The clubhouse is to be built for both summer and winter use, so that it may be operated the year round. It will be modern and well designed in every feature, containing approximately 30 bedrooms, commodious lounges, a large dining room and an auditorium where meetings of state-wide interest may be held. Broad verandas with beautiful views on all sides are included in the design.

There will be an electric light plant for the use of the clubhouse, pavilion, piers and such private cottages as may be erected by members. Artistic and sportsmanlike pure water both for drinking and for a large swimming pool which is to be installed.

To Build Causeway. A causeway will be built to connect with the Atlantic Coastal highway, now nearing completion, which will run from Savannah to Jacksonville. This highway crosses Blythe Island, which is only about two miles from Blue Heron island, making the high-roads of the club may begin as early as possible. It is believed that formation of this new club will give to Georgians an exclusive club equal in the state. It includes a United States senator, a former governor of the state, a supreme court justice, a federal judge, several congressmen, many superior court judges, editors of the leading daily papers, various federal officers, statehouse officers and other leading citizens from all sections of Georgia.

It will be modern and well designed in every feature, containing approximately 30 bedrooms, commodious lounges, a large dining room and an auditorium where meetings of state-wide interest may be held. Broad verandas with beautiful views on all sides are included in the design.

There will be an electric light plant for the use of the clubhouse, pavilion, piers and such private cottages as may be erected by members. Artistic and sportsmanlike pure water both for drinking and for a large swimming pool which is to be installed.

To Build Causeway. A causeway will be built to connect with the Atlantic Coastal highway, now nearing completion, which will run from Savannah to Jacksonville. This highway crosses Blythe Island, which is only about two miles from Blue Heron island, making the high-roads of the club may begin as early as possible. It is believed that formation of this new club will give to Georgians an exclusive club equal in the state. It includes a United States senator, a former governor of the state, a supreme court justice, a federal judge, several congressmen, many superior court judges, editors of the leading daily papers, various federal officers, statehouse officers and other leading citizens from all sections of Georgia.

Clubhouse Planned. Plans already have been made for immediate construction of an ideal, modern clubhouse and for the erection of wharves along the water front. Necessary boats and other equipment also are to be purchased, while the island as a whole will be beautified by landscaping, with the view of making the entire island a garden spot for its members.

The clubhouse is to be built for both summer and winter use, so that it may be operated the year round. It will be modern and well designed in every feature, containing approximately 30 bedrooms, commodious lounges, a large dining room and an auditorium where meetings of state-wide interest may be held. Broad verandas with beautiful views on all sides are included in the design.

Waycross, Ga., April 19.—The Lions club of Waycross this week had the honor of entertaining Rolf Lium, the young Black Hills pastor known throughout the United States as the one who preached before President and Mrs. Coolidge last summer.

In a short address Mr. Lium emphasized the danger of working for symbols, such as money, material possessions, worldly recognition, instead of the lasting satisfaction of a task well performed and enjoyed in the performance.

Mr. Lium will be in Waycross until Saturday and is taking advantage of his stay here to enjoy golf on the fine course of the Okefenokee Golf club.

Four Brothers Freed of Charge Of P. O. Robbery

Paducah, Ky., April 19.—(AP)—The four Gallion brothers, charged with robbery of the Mayfield postoffice October 10, 1923, were found not guilty by a jury in federal court today.

The four brothers, natives of Tennessee, were charged with stealing $75,000 of stamps including documentary stamps.

Unable to arrive at a verdict last night, the jury had been locked up overnight, and announced their decision only after Judge Charles I. Dawson had refused to dismiss them when they reported the deadlock still existed at 9 o'clock this morning. All they deliberated five and a half hours before returning the verdict.

Defense of the four brothers, Elbridge, Ernest, Buster and Sam, originally from near Paris, Tenn., was based on the contention that they were working on a fruit farm near Wenatchee, Wash., at the time of the robbery.

STATE PEACH CROP SUFFERS BIG LOSS

Macon, Ga., April 19.—(AP)—Thousands of peach trees throughout the Georgia fruit belt have been killed by the cold weather of early January. It developed today when W. C. Bewley, owner of the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange, and a committee of growers, returned from an inspection tour.

The damage is known to the peach growers as "winter kill." The effect of the January cold weather was described by Mr. Bewley as being "astonishing in its extent."

It was recalled that just before the extremely cold weather of early January, there was a prolonged spell of unusually hot weather. Midsummer heat records were made. During this period the sap in the fruit trees ascended. Then the temperature dropped suddenly to about 7 degrees above zero. The sap didn't have time to go back to its winter hiding place and the damage was done.

Mr. Bewley said that he found thousands of these trees this week in his tour which extended to Byron, Fort Valley, Marshallville, Milledgeville, and Sumter country orchards; in Jasper and Jones counties and also in the orchards north of Macon.

The committee found that there was no damage from the frost of Monday night.

Mr. Bewley was asked if he could make an estimate of the probable size of this year's peach crop and he replied that such an estimate at this time "would be the wildest sort of guessing."

There will be no estimates of the peach crop until after the May drop, it was said.

FREE 12 YEARS, CONVICT IS BACK FOR LONG TERM

After 12 years of freedom Ezra J. Brown, 44, Thursday was returned from New York to serve an unexpectedly long sentence on a Fulton county chain gang.

He was convicted of burglary in 1916, but escaped after the first two months, second time. During the world war Brown says he served with the marines, later learning a painter's trade in an effort to go straight.

Manhattan police picked him up a few days ago on the strength of an old photograph. Brown has not changed a bit in the 12 years he lived in the east, police say.

Brown's alleged safe-cracking confederates already served out their time, while he began where he left off many years ago.

The prisoner, with two companions, is charged with having broken a safe of the Campbell-Brownlee Furniture company back in 1916.

In the act of attempting to stab W. M. Sharp with an ice pick in a dispute over a check-up of daily receipts, Joe Fields, negro, of 12 Harrison place, Thursday afternoon was shot in the breast by D. A. Philpot, of 483 Boulevard N. E., at an ice plant at Decatur and Jackson streets, according to a report by Call Officers Higgins and Jones.

Philpot came to the police station with the officers and posted bond pending the outcome of Fields' condition, it was said.

10,000 SHRINERS TO VISIT ATLANTA

Atlanta will be host next week to 10,000 Shriners or more, who will stop over in the city either en route to or from the 54th annual session of the imperial council of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which is to be held in Miami May 1, 2 and 3. Tom C. Law, illustrious potentate of Yaarab, the local shrine, has received word from a score or more of temples in all parts of the country, advising him of their intentions to spend either a full day or several hours here.

Twenty special trains will pass through the city, bringing these seceded hosts on their pilgrimage to the hot sands of southern Florida.

The local shrine has made elaborate preparations to entertain all those who stop over. Many of the delegations will be met by Yaarab with its various organizations in uniform, while Shrine bands, patrols and chanters from all quarters of the country will be seen parading, drilling and performing on Atlanta's streets and in her hotels.

Ladies to Entertain.

A special committee of ladies, headed by Mrs. Frank A. Cundell, also will be at work entertaining wives and daughters of the pilgrimaging brothers.

Among the temples which have notified Potentate Law is Aladdin, of Columbus, Ohio, which has 300 members, its patrol, military band and chanters. They will be the first to arrive, reaching the Terminal station at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, remaining in the city until 6 o'clock that afternoon. The Aladdin band and chanters will give a concert at the Henry Grady hotel from 3 o'clock to 4:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Other temples which are going to interrupt their pilgrimage to stop over here include Rishah, Madisonville, Ky.; India, Oklahoma City; Murat, Indianapolis; Ostris, Wheeling, W. Va.; Maskat, Wichita Falls, Texas; Al Malakiah, Los Angeles; Kosair, Louisville, Ky.; Orak, Hammond, Ind.; Hadil, Evansville, Ind.; Zorah, Terre Haute, Ind.; Syrian, Cincinnati; Medinah, Chicago; Elmasda, El Paso; Moslah, Fort Worth.

Moslem temple, of Detroit, and Tamas temple, of Meridian, are among those which will visit the city after the Miami convention.

The above temples will arrive on various days throughout the week, keeping the city in a colorful panorama for the entire week.

Yaarab's own Miami delegation will leave at 2 p. m. on Sunday, April 29, aboard two special trains. The local delegation will include 11 uniformed and special organizations, including the oriental band, patrol and chanters. Six entire floors of the El Comodore hotel at Miami have been reserved for the Yaarab visitors.

ROAD DIVISION SPENT $13,000,000 IN 1927

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Georgia's highway department spent nearly $13,000,000 in 1927, pushing construction more rapidly than ever before and improving more miles of highway, both by hard-surfacing and otherwise, than in any previous year, State Auditor Sam J. State reported to Governor Hardman Thursday in filing an audit of the department's affairs for the year 1927.

The present year should see "practically the same amount of construction as in 1927, with possibly a small advance," the auditor commented, adding that "from now on substantial progress should be made toward the completion of a state highway system." Now, for the first time, we can look forward to the completion of trunk lines of highways throughout the state during the year 1929, these roads to be hard-surfaced.

Expenditures of the department for the year were placed at $12,705,875.46—an increase of more than $7,000,000 over 1924, the first year in which the state fuel oil tax was available, when $5,130,641.11 was spent.

Of the amount spent in 1927, the report showed, the state paid $6,467,707.25, or 51 per cent. Of the amount spent in 1924, by way of contrast, Georgia was shown to have furnished only $1,978,355.64, or 39 per cent.

Enlarged Scope.

This increase in state contributions, the auditor said, has made possible the enlarging scope of the department's work, enabling the board also to utilize rapidly the federal allotments to Georgia. The contributions will continue to grow larger because of growing returns from the state fuel oil tax and the motor vehicle tax, which increased from approximately $3,500,000 in 1924 to approximately $8,500,000 in 1927, the auditor declared.

Total cost of highways and bridges built by the department up to December 31 was found to be $56,672,324.73, of which amount the state paid $15,522,920.44; the federal government $19,485,231.51, and the counties $21,522,920.44.

Principal recommendations made by the auditor were that the department hereafter record maintenance costs by types of construction rather than by counties, as at present; that comparative cost figures be compiled on different sections of the same type of road construction; and that a "margin of safety," or 50 per cent during spring and summer months and 60 during autumn and winter months, be provided in the letting of contracts as based on incoming revenue.

As to the department's bookkeeping methods, the auditor commented as follows: "The books are neatly and accurately kept and vouchers are on hand for all expenditures. The statistical division is functioning better than at any time heretofore."

The Emory Political Science club was organized at the beginning of the present year. It meets bi-monthly and has for its purpose the stimulation of

CAPTAIN BENSON NAMED OFFICER OF HUMANE BODY

Captain "Mitt" Benson, for 30 years a member of the Atlanta fire department, in which he rose to a captaincy by faithful and effective work, has become associated with the Atlanta Humane society as humane officer, it was announced Thursday by Mrs. Stacy E. Hill, vice president of the organization.

Engagement of Captain Benson in this post, Mrs. Hill commented, assures a higher efficiency in attainment of the objective of the society, which is, first of all, protection of the dumb friends of man from abuse and neglect. Captain Benson is known among dog breeders and owners as an experienced handler of dogs, and several owners of the finest kennels about Atlanta have for years entrusted their valued dogs to his care and attention.

Report of the engagement of Captain Benson was made by Mrs. Hill to the Community Chest, in connection with which the Humane society operates. At the same time, she reported, the society is buying a new ambulance car and is planning for enlarged activity and usefulness.

PONCEMORE SOLD FOR THIRD TIME

Sale of the Poncemore apartments, large residential structure on the southwest corner of Ponce de Leon and Moreland avenues, for approximately $200,000 was reported Thursday, making the third time this property has been sold in 16 months.

According to the announcement, the Land Securities, Inc., a local investment company, sold the structure to an Atlanta capitalist. The consideration was part cash and assumption of loans. The Land Securities, Inc., also acquired an 8-unit apartment at 403 Forrest avenue, valued at $38,000. This structure is on a lot 75 by 120 feet.

The Poncemore apartment building contains 35 units of three to six rooms each, on a lot fronting 607.5 feet on Ponce de Leon avenue and 180 feet on Moreland. It is composed of three wings of brick and hollow tile construction, arranged around a court with a fireproof garage built underground. It is one of Atlanta's largest apartment buildings and was erected by the Massell Realty company, the first to be built that far out on Ponce de Leon avenue.

In January, 1927, the Massell Realty company sold the structure to M. C. Foster. Five months later Mr. Foster sold the property to the Land Securities, Inc., principals in the present transaction. The three sales and resales were handled through W. L. & John O. Dull'ree.

ATTEMPT TO SWINDLE VISITOR IS REPORTED

An alleged attempt by two men to swindle H. Matlak, of LaCrosse, Wis., out of a large sum of money while Matlak was stopping at a local hotel recently, was reported to Atlanta police Thursday in a letter from J. B. Wheeler, chief of police at LaCrosse.

Chief Wheeler wrote local officers that when Matlak was at the local hotel, two men who claimed to be on the inside of racing made bets and won $40,000—"the old game." The men advised Matlak to get as much money together as he could and give it to them to bet for him. Chief Wheeler said, Matlak claims that he did not give the men any money, however, it was stated.

Atlanta city officials and the Atlanta newspapers for courtesies to the delegation.

The executive committee of the association was empowered to fix the place and time of the next convention. Following adjournment, the delegates visited Stone Mountain.

STATE'S EVIDENCE RESULTS IN JAIL TERM FOR WOMACK

State's evidence failing to convict an alleged confederate netted R. S. Womack a five-to-ten-year sentence Thursday in Fulton superior court.

Womack, indicted with John Butler and W. M. Wilson in connection with the holdup of the Horne Drug company, took the stand Wednesday to testify against Butler, subsequently freed by a jury.

His statement, however, included an admission of entering the Highland avenue drug store last March 14 with Wilson while Butler waited outside in an automobile.

Pleading guilty before Judge E. E. Pomeroy Thursday, Womack was sentenced for the crime he had previously confessed. Wilson is a fugitive, the solicitor's office says.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT BY ATLANTA LAUNDRY

Suit to enjoin the ten newly consolidated laundries here from using the "Atlanta Laundries, Inc." name was filed Thursday in Fulton superior court by the Atlanta Laundry company, of 1070 Peoples street.

According to the plaintiff, its name is worth $50,000 in goodwill established by advertising for many years. Charges that the two names were substantially the same, and that the Atlanta Laundries, Inc., was consolidated to dominate the laundry business in Atlanta were contained in the petition.

J. W. Plunkett, senior and junior, brought the suit as operators of the Atlanta Laundry company, asking that the court establish damages for use of its name.

AGED MAN INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Richard Riley, 73, who lives on Terry street, senior and junior, received a severe cut on the head Thursday on Piedmont avenue between Harris and Cain streets by a truck operated by Theodore Simmons, of 14 Jennings street, according to report by Motorcycle Officer M. L. Rivers.

Officer Rivers said that witnesses told him the truck was going 15 miles an hour and that Riley stepped directly into the path of the truck. The victim was treated at Grady hospital.

Sam Williams, of 13 Allen's alley, riding a bicycle, collided with an automobile driven by C. S. Chandler at Piedmont and Auburn avenues, and was slightly injured.

BASEMENT OF MIRROR LAUNCHES SALE TODAY

Culminating a year of highly successful business, the bargain basement of the Mirror, popular women's ready-to-wear establishment at 76 Whitehall street, S. W., this morning will launch a big "One-Year-Old sale." The event will last for an entire week and, according to D. L. Simon, manager of bargain basement, will set a new standard for values and prices for this institution.

"The sale is designed to show our appreciation of the wholehearted support accorded the bargain basement by Atlanta women during its first business year," Mr. Simon explained. "For the past four weeks we have been busily engaged in buying for the event, gathering 8,000 magnificent dresses and 1,500 beautiful coats of the finest quality, which we will offer at amazing prices."

"I do not hesitate to say that the values offered in this sale will be the greatest ever tendered Atlanta women by the bargain basement, and I extend a cordial invitation to all our friends, both old and new, to visit us during the sale and share in its wonderful values."

As evidence of the popularity of the Mirror's bargain basement, Mr. Simon said that last January its space was doubled and 25 spacious fitting rooms were installed, thus enabling it to extend every convenience of other departments to shoppers.

HEFFLIN RESUMES ATTACK ON SMITH

Washington, April 19.—(AP)—A threat to call the roll of senate democrats on the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith for the democratic presidential nomination was made today in the senate by Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, during another attack on the New York governor.

His threat was made after Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, a member of the Arkansas delegation to the Houston convention, had failed to respond to an invitation to arise and deny published reports that the Arkansas delegation will vote for Smith at the first opportunity.

"I'm going to call the roll here on this question soon," Hefflin shouted. "You're fixing now to break up a quorum," Caraway then retorted.

"If I do I will suggest the absence of a quorum and interrogate you as you come back into the chamber," the Alabama responded.

Charging that there is a campaign fund for Governor Smith, the like of which Mark Hanna never would have dreamed, Senator Hefflin said he understood that his demand for a senate investigation of campaign expenditures now was under consideration.

"I want an investigation of these expenditures," the senator added. "I want them to call in all of these candidates. Secretary Hoover, Governor Lowden, the senator from Kansas (Charles Curtis) and all those others who aspire to the high office of president of the United States."

"I want to attack the benches called. Call Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, and ask him where he is to get this $100,000 he is going to use to pay the expenses of the New Jersey delegation to Houston in return for a pledge of the delegates to support Smith to the bitter end."

Hefflin arose to attack an article in The New York World, saying that he had been denied the use of the courthouse at Winston-Salem to deliver an address attacking Governor Smith, who now is on vacation in North Carolina. He announced that he would speak at Winston-Salem and other places soon.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, who later announced that there was no truth in published reports that he had withdrawn his opposition to Smith's nomination, declared that he did not believe there was "a word of truth" in the World article. He added that he knew the people of North Carolina would welcome Hefflin and would permit him the use of any courthouse in the state as a forum for an address.

REED DETERMINED TO CONTINUE FIGHT.
Washington, April 19.—(United News)—Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, came back to Washington today after making 20 speeches in 20 states, still determined to carry his fight for the democratic presidential nomination to the end regardless of the current drift toward Smith.

"We are going to the end of the row," he said. "You have never seen me start a fight and quit it and I am not going to quit now."

Asked about claims that if Governor Smith is not nominated all Irish voters will leave the democratic party, Reed replied:

"I should dislike to believe that any race of people or any religious body would leave their party because a man of their race or particular religion belief had not been nominated."

He said that if the election were tomorrow and the corruption issue were squarely before the voters the country would see a turnover like that in Chicago last week. Reed added that the democrats would carry every state west of the Mississippi or lose all except three—Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas—depending on the personality of the candidate and the platform.

SMITH PRAISES CAROLINA ROADS.
Asheville, N. C., April 19.—(United News)—Governor Al Smith, of New York, praised North Carolina's highway system today while newspapermen tried to get him to talk politics.

"You have wonderful roads down here," he said. "And the way they are financed is equally commendable."

Numerous callers saw Smith in the afternoon, but he evaded all reference to politics and let them do most of the talking.

Earlier in the day Smith inspected the Biltmore farms.

He had breakfast with A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States attorney general.

Game and Fish Board To Show Wild Life Films

Motion pictures showing Georgia's wild life in its native haunts, with illustrative scenes of lawful and unlawful methods of hunting and fishing, are now being filmed in various parts of Georgia by the state department of game and fish and will be available to schools and civic organizations within the next 60 days, the department has announced.

When the motion picture experts preparing the films have completed their work, the finished production is ready to be sent out, the department will assign a trained lecturer to accompany them, and their work will be through the state, the announcement said.

"The five or more reels of pictures," it was explained, "will bring to students and home communities live illustrations of animals and birds with which the woods and forests of Georgia abound."

"These films will constitute probably the most complete series of this classification ever made in the south, containing the following: 1. Hunting scenes; 2. Fresh water fishing; 3. Commercial fishing, showing actual operation of the shrimp and oyster industry along the Georgia coast; 4. Fur-bearing animals of the state in their actual life; 5. A general picture of non-game birds, showing many species and depicting their habits."

"A portion of one of the reels will show the deer in the corridors of the game and fish department in north Georgia."

ments, and then requested the court to permit him to call attention to the fall deposition. Justice Bailey took this under advisement and will rule on it tomorrow morning.

Justice Bailey suggested that as soon as he rules, counsel be prepared for their closing arguments and that each side be limited to three hours, which would permit the court to charge the jury Saturday morning.

Case Near Jury.
With every indication that the case would reach the jury by noon Saturday, it marks the first time in the six years that the Teapot Dome case has been before the public that a jury decision as to its honesty seems imminent. Starting with individual efforts of members of congress in 1922 to leave what was being done with the rich naval oil reserve the storm aroused by the lease grew in intensity on its course through senate committee hearings and court trials.

Sinclair and Fall were placed on trial last October but a mistrial was declared two weeks later. It was learned that Burns, a committee member, had been shadowing the jury. Cited for criminal contempt for this, Sinclair and three others were found guilty and received a year in jail.

Evidence Quickly Through.
The government side of the case had occupied more time at the October trial than both sides have occupied in the Sinclair case. The fact that Sinclair's story made it impossible for the government to go into the Continental Trading company oil deal in which it was charged that some of the millions of dollars in profits invested in Liberty bonds reached Fall through Sinclair, and Justice Bailey's exclusion of much evidence that was permitted to go into the record in the previous case, shortened the trial considerably.

The action of the defense in not introducing the Fall depositions also hastened the end, as government counsel had planned to call C. C. Chase, another son-in-law of the former cabinet officer, to question him about the Liberty bond transaction. This could have been done only if the Fall deposition had been read.

NORRIS DEMANDS
NEW LEASE PROBE.
Washington, April 19.—(AP)—Another senate inquiry into government oil leases was broached today when Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, laid before the senate a resolution calling for an investigation into the Salt Creek fields of Wyoming.

The resolution, which was referred under senate rules to the committee on audit for preliminary study, asks that the senate lands committee determine the validity of the leases on this field, made during the closing days of the democratic administration and early in the Harding republican regime, and determine also whether the leases "could or should be cancelled."

Gas Gone, Blizzard Comes.
The gas gauges were all out. The men didn't know whether they had enough for an hour or two hours' flying. A blizzard came on. They couldn't see things. They decided to climb so they wouldn't run into anything.

Koehl and Fitzmaurice had been handling the controls on three-hour flights. They were rapidly nearing exhaustion. They were so weary and their eyes were so tired from the strain of looking that they were seeing mirages—airframes, hangars, machines.

They even saw cities up there over the Canadian wilderness. There seems little doubt that they may have been flying over northern Canada when they turned and bore to the southeast. Finally the men saw what they at first thought was a ship frozen in the ice.

A moment later, like a gift from God, they saw a running out on the ice and a couple of people. They cut the gun, and made an attempt to land.

Not having experience on ice they didn't think the ice inshore would hold them. They saw a small pond, and honestly it isn't much bigger than the parlor of a six-room house. It was here they cut the machine down. They stalled. Landed. Sank. The tires burst.

Landing Bends Propeller. The Bremen cocked up on her nose and bent the propeller. Koehl got a bit of skin peeled off his forehead. That was the only harm any of the three suffered. The injury Koehl was no worse than if he had bumped his head against a low beam. They climbed wearily out of the machine.

Southern Methodist University Debaters Meet Emory Tonight

The Southern Methodist University of Dallas, Texas, will be the foe of Emory University at 8 o'clock tonight in a debate on the subject, "Resolved: That the Policy of the United States Towards Mexico Is Justifiable." The event will be held in the university auditorium.

Oecil Hardin, winner of the theological contest last year, and R. M. Barker will represent Emory, while Frank Tiffin, a former Emory student and winner of the Emory oratorical contest, will be one of the opposition speakers.

Wallace Alston and R. W. McDuffey, composing the Emory championship debating team, are now on a 1,500-mile debating tour. They will debate the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, the University of New York at Wofford college and the University of South Carolina before returning on April 24.

they slid along the surface of the ocean. This gave them a little clearance ahead.

And then they suddenly saw the stars. A great sight. They were out of the fog. They decided to slide to a lower altitude and find out where they were, if possible.

They were doing very well by this time. They were over land and weren't aware of it. Being strangers they didn't know the kind of patchwork panorama of black and white that the northern bush, broken by frozen lakes, presents in winter. They figured that the white patches were fog or clouds. They were not seeing very well by this time, anyway. The strain was telling on their eyes.

They flew on for three more hours. More and more they were puzzled by that black and white combination below. Koehl began to argue that the stuff did not look like fog to him. Baron Huenefeld maintained that it must be a mountain.

Couldn't Climb Mountain.
They couldn't get over it. The only thing to do was turn. Koehl made a marvelous turn.

"Where can we be?" he asked in German, in a cool voice.

The three men were as lost as they could be. They didn't know, but they thought they must be somewhere over Labrador. They knew that was not a healthy place to be. There was nothing to do except to keep going. For their compass had long since gone dead. For hours it had been on its crazy own. The card of morning came and the sun once again.

They took their bearings and flew southeast, which meant making a half turn back to Ireland. They dropped from 15 feet. For a while they flew along above the surface of a frozen river. It might have been a Siberian stream, for all they knew. It was only a matter of flying as low as they could. Below there was nothing but wilderness. In every man's mind there must have been the thought of Nungesser and Coli and the other flyers who had disappeared over the Atlantic.

The crew were under a terrible strain. All they could do was sit tight and keep flying on. They wrote on a piece of paper, "We can't land here. There would be no food."

It was tried to remember the things he had read about ways of existing in the wilderness and living off the land.

BANK IS CLOSED AFTER PRESIDENT SHOOTING HIMSELF

Statesville, N. C., April 19.—(AP)—The Commercial National bank here failed to open its doors today following the discovery of a large shortage in the accounts of its organizer and cashier, Dr. M. Ausley, 56, who yesterday shot and killed himself a short time after federal bank examiners had arrived to go over his books.

In announcing that the directors had placed the bank's affairs in the hands of the examiners, W. D. Turner, president, placed the shortage at $234,000, an amount exceeding the combined capital and surplus of the institution.

A former employee of the bank, Mrs. Nola Carpenter, 44, who lately for some time had been associated with another concern, also committed suicide last night, but authorities attributed no connection between her death and the bank's affairs. She had been ill since last fall when she resigned from her position.

A few minutes after the attempted holdup, Call Officers Paul Williams and J. B. Morrow arrested J. Ransom, negro, who lives in the rear of the building. The negro, who was described by Kushner, had been charged with carrying concealed weapons.

CAPITAL'S WATER FRONT IS MENACED BY FIRE

Washington, April 19.—(United News)—Damage estimated at half a million dollars was caused tonight by a spectacular fire which totally destroyed the Johnson-Winsatt Lumber yard, taking up a square block at Twelfth and Water streets in the southwest section of the city along the Potomac river. No one was injured.

Fanned by a stiff breeze the fire flared through approximately one million feet of lumber as every available piece of fire fighting apparatus from this city and the nearby towns of Clarendon, Cherrylee, and Alexandria, Va., and police in maintaining fire lines, when thousands of persons flocked to the fire which could be seen from all over the city.

machine. Their relief at seeing humans must have been tremendous. The men didn't talk much about this. They wouldn't. They asked the people who came out in their parkas where they were. For all they knew they might have been in Greenland. They were told they were at Blanc Sablon. That didn't mean anything until they had seen a map.

Then they knew they were the first men to cross the Atlantic by air from east to west.

That made up some, I guess, for the hardships of the flight.

10-MINUTE LIMIT SET FOR PARKING

Enforcement of the new downtown "non-parking" ordinance was started Thursday by the police department, following receipt of the new regulations from Mayor Ragsdale's office. Under authority of a letter from Acting Mayor Claude Ashley, Chief James L. Beavers instructed his traffic force, which has been strengthened by the addition of a number of men, to allow not more than ten minutes' parking in the selected district for transaction of emergency business. The chief already had been instructed to detail his most efficient and courteous officers to this work.

Following dispatch of the letter from Mr. Ashley to Chief Beavers, Councilman W. E. Saunders, a member of the traffic committee of city council, issued a statement declaring that any parking at all in the territory covered by the ordinance would nullify the entire purpose of the law. He said that he stood for rigid, inflexible and impartial enforcement of the enactment of council, and that he believed the entire traffic committee would back his stand.

Decision to allow 10-minute emergency parking for immediate business transactions was reached by Acting Mayor Ashley following a conference with Harry York, of the police committee of council, and C. V. Hohenstein, Mr. Hohenstein explained that unless emergency parking was allowed, that the merchants' business would be greatly injured.

Chief Beavers instructed the traffic men not to make cases for violation of the new ordinance until a sufficient period has elapsed to allow citizens to become familiar with the new rule. The new ordinance prohibits parking from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the following streets:

Eachman and Whitehall streets, from Pryor to Mitchell.
Broad street, from the entrance of the Flat Iron building to Mitchell.
Pryor street, from Peachtree to Mitchell.
Mitchell street, from Spring to Washington.
Hunter street, from Broad to Whitehall.

Parking on Marietta street, from Broad to Five Points, is limited to 10 minutes.

Chief Beavers ordered the changing of the parking signs in the "non-parking" area to start Thursday. The hour parking signs were replaced with "non-parking" signs, but several days will be necessary for this work, it was said.

BREMEN WILL ARRIVE IN GOTHAM NEXT WEEK

Baron Von Huenefeld wanted to communicate. Major Fitzmaurice described the Bremen as easily the best plane in which he ever had flown. Never, he said, had he known a machine so responsive to the pilot's control or that gave so little trouble in meeting all kinds of atmospheric changes.

"The motor functioned perfectly at all times," he said, "and I can think of no term that describes it better than to say it is a 'wizard.' You could work the plane with a couple of fingers. It rode every storm like a giant bird."

News that a Ford plane will fly to Greenly island with spare parts for the Bremen was received joyously by Fraulein Junkers and Fitzmaurice, and both expressed their appreciation of the American offer to aid in the successful conclusion of the Dublin to New York flight.

Make Trip in One Hop.
"I am very happy to make that we have been offered the use of this plane to carry spare parts for the Bremen to Greenly island," Fraulein Junkers told newspapermen. "The plane is, I understand, is able to make the flight to Greenly island in one hop and this, I am sure, will make possible the earlier arrival of the Bremen in New York."

The Ford plane, with Balchen and Bennett aboard, was expected to leave Detroit early Friday. Parts needed to repair the Bremen were coming today and those, with 300 gallons of gasoline, together with Fitzmaurice and a Junkers mechanic will leave the correspondent of the North American Newspaper Alliance from Murray Bay this morning, declared that everything was in readiness there for the Ford's arrival. The new landing gear and propeller stripped from the R-13, the Bremen's sister ship, for the trans-Atlantic plane, is packed. It will be slung aboard the Ford as soon as it arrives, in anticipation of a dawn take off on the last and most dangerous lap.

Wears Borrowed Jacket.
Fitzmaurice still wears the scarlet jacket which he borrowed from "Duke" Schiller, the pilot who flew him from Greenly island, "took it easy" at a distance from the Airway company. When not occupied otherwise he would stand several minutes at a time at a window, looking at the snowstorm which lasted most of the day.

Every few minutes the telephone would ring and Fitzmaurice would be called to be congratulated on reaching this side of the Atlantic.

Fitzmaurice was unwilling to say how long he expected to remain in the United States, before returning to Ireland. However, he said he would visit Canada to "thank the Canadian people for the hospitality they showed and are still showing."

Work Is Difficult.
Fraulein Junkers has been busy night and day since her arrival here arranging for the shipment of needed parts to the Bremen. The work has been made all the more difficult by reason of the inaccessibility of Lake Ste. Agnes and the fact that considerable long-distance flying was necessary. Poor telephone connections also have added to her troubles. After lunch today she retired to her room and he'd better stick to his airplanes as sled riding is much worse than riding a jaunting car over the roughest part of "The Rocky Road to Dublin."

Wants Sled Ride.
The two passenger sleds which reporters used in making the trip from Murray Bay to Lake Ste. Agnes have been taken from the plane, and Josephine Ford, in which he flew to the north pole. This plane, fortunately, was on exhibition at the air show, and for three hours last night Ford mechanics worked to change it over to the standard Ford.

Neither Bennett nor Balchen, who have done much flying on skis, expected much trouble in shifting from wheels to skis at Murray Bay. Tom Mulroy, fuel engineer on Byrd's expedition, will superintend the operation on the plane within four hours after landing. Special jacks have been stored in the Ford to perform the job.

Landing Is Difficult.
The principal difficulty will be in bringing down the seven-ton ship (the seven tons including load) upon Greenly island's rock-corrupted soil. But if the ice on the lake on which the Bremen came down is still strong, Bennett is convinced there will be little danger in landing.

Bennett applauded the enterprise and courage of "Duke" Schiller, who as a representative of The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance was the first to fly into the little island and bring out Major James E. Fitzmaurice. "Schiller did a great job of piloting," Bennett said, "and deserves much credit." But for flying over the long stretch between Quebec and Greenly island, admittedly one of the most dangerous terrains on this continent so far as airplanes are concerned, both Bennett and Balchen favor the three-motored ship darter in landing.

"You can inform Miss Junkers," Bennett said tonight, "that if the weather is in any way good, we shall be under way tomorrow morning."

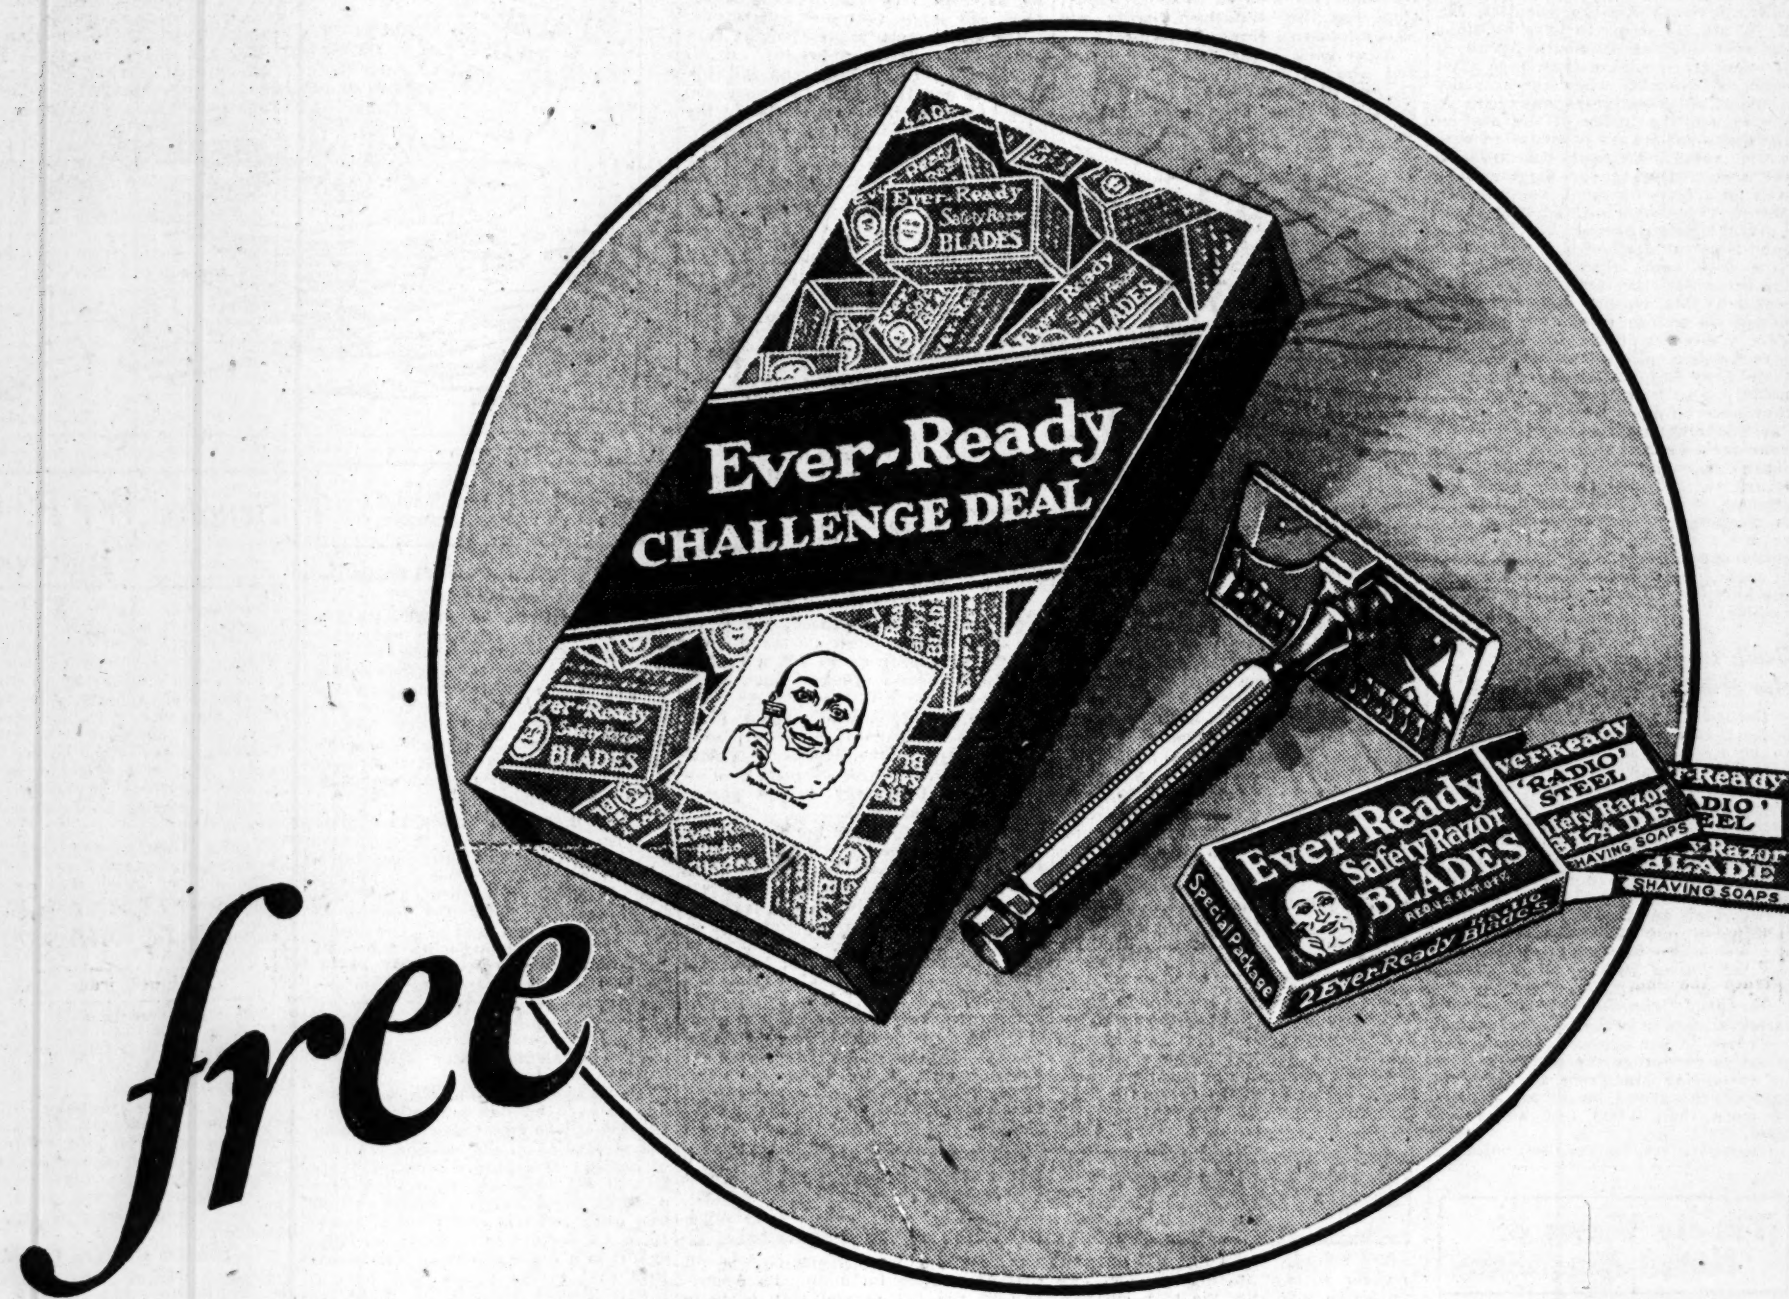

Although every effort was made to keep quiet the intended destination of the Ford-Atlantic plane until the moment of departure, news that it was going to Greenly island soon spread throughout the city, and by noon a crowd was outside the hangar watching the half dozen mechanics at work on the ship.

Doomed Dog 'Woofs' Thanks MAN HE BIT DEMANDS DEATH When Judge Grants Plea

Washington, April 19.—(United News.)—Bocus, the pedigree German police dog, won the right to live, chase cats and play with neighborhood children today when Judge Robert E. Mattingly lifted a death sentence from his head.

Four days ago, Police Judge Hitt sentenced Bocus to die after it was charged he had attacked and bitten a storekeeper. His owner, Carl Humphries, appealed an Judge Mattingly lifted the death sentence upon the testimony of more than 30 character witnesses, including Major General George Barnett, war-time commandant of the U. S. marine corps.

Best Friend of Man.
"I could be justifiably prosecuted for cruelty to animals if I sustained the death sentence against this dog,"

Judge Mattingly remarked in passing judgment.
"Next to a man's wife, the best friend a man has on this earth is his dog. The dog has been a friend of man since the beginning of time," Bocus whined his approval.

"No child, man or woman could have a better friend than this dog. If no one wants him, I'd like to take him home myself."

"This dog is acquitted, the death sentence is removed, he is held not guilty and he is ordered freed to live and play and chase cats if he wants to."

Recess Is Refused.
Judge Mattingly had just finished dealing with an assorted lot of prisoners, passing out workhouse sentences right and left without the flicker of an eyelash. When Bocus entered the prisoner's dock and stood with his front paws on the railing and his deep eyes fixed intently on the bench, the judge moved his chair closer and although it was near the lunch hour announced "I'll see this case through without a recess."

"Woof, woof," Bocus barked.
William Sultman, star witness for the government, told how he had been walking in front of Bocus home when the dog rushed out and bit him. However, the bite did not break the skin, the complainant said.

Testimony Differs.
Other witnesses were called who told of the attack differed as to the injured arm.
Then Bocus' friends rallied to his defense. More than 30 of them.

One woman with a 4-year-old child took the witness stand.
"This dog has been playing with my baby for 18 months," she said. "Sometimes when I have to go to the store I leave the baby with Bocus to watch and never has she been harmed. I would rather trust her with Bocus than a lot of people I know."

Major General Barnett, head of the Washington Humane society, testified as an expert on dogs.

"If this dog is to be killed," the former marine commander said, "I would ask the court to turn him over to me to take home for my grandchildren to play with. He has no traits of viciousness."
Judge Mattingly delivered his verdict.
Bocus "woofed."

FLORIDA BANKER AGAIN CONVICTED IN BANK FAILURE

Sanford, Fla., April 19.—(P)—Forest Lake, former president of the now defunct Seminole County bank, today was found guilty by a jury in circuit court of making excessive loans to himself from the bank's funds. The bank closed last August.

The conviction is the third returned against the man who rose from orange picker to mayor of this city and president of the bank. He was indicted jointly with A. R. Key, the bank's cashier, on a number of counts. Key pleaded guilty and is been the chief witness against his former employer.
The state succeeded in proving beyond reasonable doubt, according to the verdict, that the $62,480 deficit upon which the case was based, constituted a loan of $12,480 over the amount allowed by law to be loaned to any official or director of a bank doing business under Florida statutes.

Retail Merchants Told Of New Selling Conditions

How retail merchants may best adapt themselves to rapidly-changing conditions Thursday night by three prominent business men of Atlanta at the quarterly membership meeting of the Atlanta Retail Merchants association at the chamber of commerce.

The speakers were Raymond A. Kline, vice president and general manager of the Davison-Paxon company; Sam B. Levy, member of the firm of the Pryor Tire company, and C. V. Hohenstein, executive secretary of the association.

After Mr. Hohenstein had outlined the general changes taking place in merchandising during the past 20 years, during which period he said that competition had changed from individual merchants to rival trade lines, Mr. Levy took up the effect of the automobile and its resultant traffic congestions in Atlanta.

He told of the heavy losses in business suffered as a result of the consumer's dread of braving the traffic tangle downtown and of the tremendous fire hazard caused by tying up of traffic in the packed center area.

Rural People Poor In.
The rural population of Georgia is now within a few hours' ride of Atlanta by automobile," he pointed out, "and these are pouring in to help the general snarl of traffic downtown. In my opinion the choice lies between the Atlanta merchant whether the city shall have sensible parking laws rigidly enforced or will suffer its main business district scattered and scattered in communities over the city. This latter tendency already is in evidence in the form of branch stores."

"The intelligent merchant of Atlanta not only will aid in establishment and strict maintenance of sane and sensible traffic regulations designed to relieve the downtown congestion, but he also will help the situation by providing parking space."

FARM RELIEF FOLLOWS FLOOD BILL IN HOUSE

Washington, April 19.—(P)—In line with prearranged plans the rules committee decided today to give the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill the legislative right of way in the house as soon as disposition is made of the pending flood control measure.

An unsuccessful effort was made before the house Tuesday as leaders hope to finish flood control Saturday and take up District of Columbia legislation Monday.

A successful effort was made by supporters of the Ketcham-Jones debarment farm bill to make this measure in order as substitute for the McNary-Haugen measure. This debarment bill still can be offered as a substitute, but in absence of the rule, it is doubtful if it will be held in order. The Haugen bill, or the measure drafted by the house agricultural committee is the measure that actually will be considered. House farm leaders have decided to take this bill up in preference to the McNary bill already passed by the senate.

The house group feels that the Haugen bill is a more perfected piece of legislation although the two measures are practically identical except for several amendments affecting cotton, which was adopted by the senate.

REPORT DECLARES POLAND SNOWBOUND

Berlin, April 19.—(P)—A news agency dispatch today said that a violent snowstorm which has been sweeping Poland assumed such dimensions that for the last 24 hours the greater part of Poland has been snow-bound.

FRANKS BOY'S FATHER DIES IN CHICAGO HOTEL

Chicago, April 19.—(P)—Jacob Franks, father of Bobby Franks, who was kidnapped and slain in 1924 by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, died today at the Drake hotel, where the Franks family moved after their son was slain. He had been ill for many months and doctors attributed his illness in part to grief over the death of his son.

Despite the fact that the Franks family had moved from a mansion-like home on the south side to the hotel to get away from tragic surroundings of their son's death, the father never was able to recover from his grief and today, surrounded by his wife and two other children, Jack and Josephine, he gave up the struggle.

Franks, once a Clark street pawnbroker, was reputed to be a millionaire.

Bobby Franks, youngest child of the Franks family, disappeared in May, 1924, and demands for ransom were made on the father. On the day that the father was attempting to deliver money to the kidnapers, the boy's mutilated body was found stuffed in a culvert on the southwest side. A few days later his neighbor's sons, Leopold and Loeb, were identified as the kidnapers and slayers and confessed. The boys pleaded guilty, presented evidence of extenuating circumstances, including pleas that they were insane, and received life sentences for the murder and 90 years for the kidnapping.

Franks' feeling toward his son's slayers was tempered somewhat by sorrow for the Loeb and Leopold families.
About a year ago he denied a report that he had established a trust fund to keep the slayers of his son in prison.

Franks' death was the second which doctors attributed in part to the tragedy. Loeb's father, ill before the murder, died shortly after the trial.

How Ironized Yeast Builds Quick Flesh and Health

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes bread so beneficial. It is especially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce, and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

If you are underweight, nervous or tired, you need Ironized Yeast. Start it today. It does not cause gas or bloating. Safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs. Pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who objects to having weight increased to normal.—G. Mrs. Moore Explains New Plans For Music Club's Next Session

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Music club, outlined some of the plans for next season at the Wednesday morning meeting held at Mrs. De Los Hill's residence on Eleventh street, explaining that the "civic series" at the Auditorium-Armory will be discontinued and be replaced by seven or eight concerts on the chamber music type to be presented at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium. Every seat will be reserved, there being only two prices for membership, $15 for the main floor and first three rows in the balcony, and $10 for the remainder of the balcony. There are only about 700 seats in all, with something like 147 seats for the lesser price. Single seats will be at the usual "civic series" rate. Now is the time to send in for reservations. Some 150 reservations have already been made. A deposit of $5 sent now will assure the choice of seats in the order received, when the sale of tickets is opened. The schedule of artists has not been made. An invitation is extended to everyone to send in suggestions. Mrs. Moore suggested Gabrielloni, the Flonzaley Quartet, Daisy Jean, harpist, cellist, soprano; Cameron McLean, baritone; Pablo Casals, cellist; Felix Salmond, cellist; Catherine Wade-Smith, violinist; Andrius Savogian, guitarist, and Doris Niles and her ballet and orchestra, but stated this was not made as an official list.

A demonstration of enthusiasm met the announcement of a "bargain sale" for the tickets for the Barriere Little symphony, the last attraction of the present season to be given at the Auditorium-Armory during National Music week, Friday evening, May 11. The club will conduct a "one-day only two for one sale" of tickets for this concert, which will open on Wednesday morning, May 9, at 9 o'clock. Plans for a MacDowell benefit were agreed upon, with Miss Evelyn Jackson in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. De Los Hill presented the Sarah Leora Bailey student loan memorial fund, requesting contributions from all present whose birthday was nearest this meeting. A neat sum was realized. Souvenirs, "Stories of the Atlanta Opera, 1928," written by Dudley Glass, were presented to the members and guests with the compli-

Russian Lectures

On "John the Terrible."

The third lecture on Russia—"John the Terrible"—was given by J. S. Porohorshikov at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Erwin, Tuesday, April 17. The lecturer presented to his audience a series of richly colored pictures of what has been one of the most striking periods in the history of Russia. He contrasted the important internal achievements for the benefit of his country, as well as the great victories of Ivan IV over the Tartars, Swedes, Germans and Poles with the ruthless tyranny exercised by him inside the country over his own people. The speaker illustrated his address with well adapted quotations from authentic annals and from certain Russian dramas written in the style of Shakespeare's histories. He compared the ruin and desolation of the country under the terrible czar with the plague of the present despotism of the communists' rule, adding that he was happy to say America has refused to recognize the soviet administration for a government fit to be admitted into the comity of the civilized nations of the world. No lecture will be held during opera week. The next one on "Seri and Masters, Princes and Peasants, Rulers and Ruled—Moscow, Atlanta, St. Petersburg and New York" will be given at Wingfield, Peachtree road, at the home of former Governor and Mrs. John Slaton on Tuesday, May 1, at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss McGowan Weds Mr. Space At Ceremony in Augusta, Ga.

Augusta, Ga., April 19.—Historic old St. Paul's Episcopal church, with its many sacred memories, was the scene on Thursday evening at 9 o'clock of one of the most beautiful and impressive marriage ceremonies ever performed within its walls, when Miss Margaret McGowan and Julian Austin Space, Jr., blighted their troth in the presence of a tremendous assemblage of relatives and friends. Dr. Julian Schand performed the ceremony.

Attached to each pew end was a high gold candlestick, with cluster of Easter lilies tied with low of white tulle and fern, forming a candle-lighted aisle. On the altar, myriads of lights from cathedral candelabra and towering candlesticks shed a glow over hundreds of white Easter lilies, arranged in floor vases of white and gold. J. Louis Sayre, at the organ, rendered a solemn and beautiful "Saint d'Amour," "My Thoughts Are You," "Narcissus," "Romance," and "Liebestraum," the wedding march bringing to a close the program. Bowdoin Phinizy, Charles Presley, Lansing Lee, L. H. Charbonnier and Charles H. Phinizy were ushers. William McCravy, Thomas M. Johnson, of Savannah, and William Fulcher were groomsmen.

The attendants' costumes had bodies of white tulle, in semi-ballet effect; the full, long skirts of tulle with uneven hem line developing into four points that reached the floor. A graceful bow of tulle was attached to the left side and on the shoulder was an exquisite ornament of brilliant, creating a dash of color were the armfuls of red roses carried, and they wore scarlet satin slippers. Mrs. George Barrett and Miss M. M. Doughty first entered, followed by Mrs. Henri McGowan with Miss Nina Marshall, of Lynchburg, Va. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Julia Bradshaw, of Paducah, Ky., and Miss Louise Phinizy, of Athens. Sam Varnedoe was best man.

Beautiful Bride.
The beautiful bride entered with her brother, Henri McGowan, wearing her bridal robes of heavy ivory satin, fashioned princess style. The sleeves were long and close-fitting, and finished at the hand with trimming of priceless rose point lace. The yoke was fashioned of the lace and the bodice was shaped boat-fashion. At the left side was attached a cluster of orange blossoms from which depended long sprays. Forming the graceful court train were two broad bands of satin with center hand of tulle, and draping the train, in fitch effect, was a scarf of the rose point lace that extended from the shoulder to the end of the train, the lace, a valued heirloom, having served brides of preceding generations. The tulle veil was attached to a coronet of the same exquisite lace, a small cluster of orange blossoms with pendant buds, attached at one side. Her ears were a gorgeous bouquet of orchids, showered with lilies of the valley.

Reception Follows.
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the country club. The bride's table was overlaid with imported cloth of Italian cut work, centered with a massive silver bowl of pink roses, carnations and ferns, a touch of sentiment was again afforded in the use of the handsome old family silver, candlesticks of silver and crystal holding pink candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Space went to Cuba on their wedding journey, from whence they sail for New York. The bride traveled in a navy blue crepe gown, the bodice hand-tinted in a combination of blue, gold and red, the coat lined with silk of similar combination. Her hat was a Paris model of crocheted viscra, in navy, with trimming of red currauts and ribbons, of navy blue kid and she carried a handbag of red leather.

Mrs. Space is the only daughter of Mrs. James E. McGowan and the late James E. McGowan, and has all the charm and gracefulness of her mother, who was an acknowledged belle—Meta Charbonnier. She is the granddaughter of the late Professor Leon Henri Charbonnier, for years a brilliant and beloved member of the educational staff of the University of Georgia. Her father was one of the city's outstanding citizens, prominently associated with its civic and social life. His brother, Admiral Samuel McGowan, added much in the way of

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

THE ATONIC ABDOMINAL WALL.

Are you getting some vigorous exercise every day?

Unless there is some reason such as an acute inflammation or a bad heart, or tuberculosis, you should be having some regular period of exercising, especially those which bring into play the abdominal and back muscles. Remember that all of the physiological processes are affected by muscular exercise—the respiration, circulation, digestion, excretion and the cell metabolism.

We have had many, many letters from those who have been cured of their abdominal wall exercise. To add emphasis to this little talk, I'll run one:

Dear Dr. Lulu: I have learned to count my calories, and thereby reduced my weight from 204 to 154—50 pounds. Your atonic abdominal wall exercises have been especially beneficial. I was afflicted with rheumatism (?), neuritis (?). At any rate I had painful lameness. Was obliged to go up the stairs on my hands and feet, and down them one at a time, like a child; sometimes had to walk with a cane or chair, anything handy, not counting the suffering. A week of overindulgence in starches and sweets, and other falls from grace, and I have some twinges. Another trouble was constipation which was entirely removed when I faithfully carried on the exercise. This is what you have done for a 60-year-old woman.

"MRS. R."

The first comment I want to make on your letter, Mrs. R., is that I want you to stop calling yourself an old woman. Don't you know that men and women don't get old at 60 any more? You certainly have proved that you have the energy and stamina of a young person. Thank you for your inspiration.

Overweight is not infrequently accompanied by rheumatic pains in the muscles and neuritis (inflammation of the nerves) as well as many other disorders. It has been noticed in recent years that there is a certain type of muscular rheumatism and arthritis (inflammation of the joints) frequently associated with a higher blood sugar than normal. This increase in the blood sugar can come from excess starches and sugars in the diet, as well as from disordered pancreas, as it does in diabetes. Thus, in your case, Mrs. R., it was probably your correct reducing diet, as well as your exercises, that helped you get rid of your pain.

Besides these 10 to 15 minutes daily of abdominal exercises, one should have a two or three-mile walk in the open. A walk taken with long strides is a vigorous exercise, and a most wholesome one, for you get your fresh air and sunshine.

Those of you who want the pamphlet on reducing and gaining may have it by sending 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask also for our article on the Atonic Abdominal Wall. (All articles, except the reducing and gaining pamphlet, require two cents in coin and a s. a. s. e.)

BLACK HOWLER AT HOME.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

To know a person you must be where something of his home you see.—Scraper the Kingbird.

Peter Rabbit was very meek. Yes, sir, Peter was very meek. "If you please, Scraper," he said, "I'm ready to believe anything you tell me. If you should say that Black Howler looks exactly like Farmer Brown's boy, I'd believe it."

Scraper laughed right out. "Well, he doesn't," said he. "He doesn't look a bit like Farmer Brown's boy, and yet, he does, if you know what I mean."

Peter shook his head. "No," said he, "I don't know what you mean."

"Well, what I mean is," said Scraper, "that Black Howler is shaped a whole lot like one of these two-legged creatures we call men."

"Is he two-legged?" inquired Bobby Coon.

"I told you before that he has four legs. Yet he is two-legged, too."

"You're getting me all mixed up," declared Peter Rabbit. "How can he be four-legged and two-legged at the same time?"

"Well, it's this way," replied Scraper. "His front legs are more like arms. When he is on the ground, which isn't very often, he travels on four legs, but he sits up on two legs and stands up that way, too. And when he is in the trees, which is where he is most of the time, those front legs are really arms and his front feet are like hands."

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter. "He must be a queer looking fellow. Do I understand that he lives in the trees, like Happy Jack Squirrel?"

Scraper nodded. "Yes," said he, "only not so. It isn't often he comes down on the ground. He travels in the treetops, and you ought to see him travel. He gets most of his food in the trees. He sleeps in the trees. I don't believe he is really at home anywhere else."

"Does he have a hole in a tree the way I do?" demanded Bobby Coon.

"I don't think so," replied Scraper. "He's a big fellow and it would take a big hole. I've seen him sleeping in the crotch of a tree, so I don't think he has a hole for a home. My, you should hear him when the sun comes up in the morning! Or when it thunders!"

Peter looked up quickly. "What has thunder got to do with it?" asked he.

"I don't know," replied Scraper. "I could never make out whether he is jealous or scared. But when it thunders Black Howler certainly does."

Armstrong Is Given $2,345 Condemnation Award Against City

The board of arbitrators appointed to try condemnation proceedings of the city of Atlanta against J. A. Armstrong who operates a restaurant at 59 Central avenue, Thursday made an award in favor of the latter for $2,345. It was necessary for the city to condemn this property in order to clear the way for the Central avenue viaduct improvement.

This is said to be one of the largest awards ever made against the city in condemnation proceedings involving a household interest.

Mr. Armstrong was represented by Attorneys Sam D. Hewlett and R. J. Reynolds, Jr.

LEGATE TO CUBA STATES RELATIONS "MOST CORDIAL"

Havana, April 19.—(AP)—Alluding to United States Senator Shipstead's resolution asking that an investigation be made to determine whether the rights of United States citizens in Cuba were being fully protected under the Platt amendment, the American ambassador, Noble Bandon Dulak, said today:

"It is certain that the relations between the governments of the United States and Cuba are closer and more cordial than ever before. During the four months I have been in Cuba every request I have made of the Cuban government has received careful and considerate attention."

"All matters involving the interest of American citizens which I have taken up with the Cuban government have either been satisfactorily adjusted or are in the process of adjustment."

FRENCH SEND PLEA FOR WAR OUTLAWRY TO ALL OF POWERS

Paris, April 19.—(AP)—A French plea for the outlawry of war, complementing the Kellogg proposals, was forwarded to the powers today. It was said in official circles to accord entirely with the French thesis as set forth in Foreign Minister Briand's note to Washington.

The French project makes reservations respecting the obligations of France to the League of Nations, but otherwise virtually agrees with the tenor of Secretary Kellogg's suggestions. It is expected that it will be published within a few days.

HOPE IS ABANDONED FOR LOST CUBAN PLANE

Havana, April 19.—(AP)—A two-day search for the Cuban army plane PTE-3 with Lieutenant Ponce de Leon and Ensign Perez aboard has failed to reveal any sign of the machine, and all hope has been abandoned by aviation officials, who say the plane was blown to sea, and lost.

VIADUCT CONTRACT TO BE APPROVED BY ASHLEY TODAY

Coincident with approval Thursday by Acting Mayor Claude Ashley of the contract for excavation for the foundation of Atlanta's new $1,300,000 city hall, Mr. Ashley announced that he probably will approve the contract for construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts today.

The viaduct contract was before him for consideration Thursday afternoon, but several other details remained to be checked. These probably will be completed this morning and actual work on them can be begun this week. Alexander MacDougall, president of the MacDougall Construction company, announced.

The Nichols Contracting company was given the work of excavation for the city hall foundation, and work will be begun immediately on this, it was said.

Contracts for erection of the Bask Brown and O'Keefe Junior High schools, which also have been given the approval of the board, bond commission and the city council, are expected to be offered to the mayor for his approval this week, and work on them can be started the first part of next week.

Freed on A.W.O. L. Charge, Soldier Sues U.S. for Pay

Bartow, Fla., April 19.—(AP)—Tried and acquitted of a charge of deserting the army, Grover Bohannon, Bartow ex-serviceman, has filed a counter charge that the army deserted him, allowing him to subsist without pay or food or housing allowance for seven years. He has filed suit against the government asking $7,677.60.

After the armistice, Bohannon charges, his papers became lost at Camp McClellan, Ala., and he waited there until after his company had been disbanded. For two years, he says, he stayed at the camp, a soldier without an officer, and wore his uniform until it fell to pieces. He maintains that he was ready to perform a soldier's duty at all times.

Finally when only civilians were left at the camp, Bohannon says, he came here with his wife he married at Camp McClellan. When he made application for adjusted compensation, he was arrested for desertion.

He was tried and acquitted at Fort Benning, Ga., and given the full amount of adjusted compensation, but his honorable discharge has him marked A. W. O. L., for seven years.

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPIING

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookbinder in London and later in Winterbourne, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven, when his son Conrad and his grandson, who have just track of him. Conrad hastens to tell his brother, Probyn, that he has seen his father.

INSTALLMENT V.

A FLASH OF INTUITION.

Sir Probyn Pybus was writing a letter when he became aware of his brother standing at the open window.

"Hello, Conrad."

Probyn was red where his brother was yellow. Tall and ruddy and rather spare, he had a smooth geniality and very fine manners which fitted him with some naturalness. His right eye had a slight cast in it. His eyes were of that color that is neither blue nor green nor gray, but a blending of all three. He smiled a great deal. He had what Ula Calmady called "the civic manner;" you might count upon seeing him in mayoral robes and upon his having his portrait painted in those robes. As a matter of fact, his portrait had been painted by Wycherly and had been hung in the academy.

"Come in, my dear fellow."

Conrad looked out of temper. He threw his hat into a chair and chose a cigarette from the silver box on his brother's writing desk.

"I've seen the old man."

Probyn put down his pen.

"Our father?"

"Our revered parent—if you like. He cut me dead."

Probyn looked shocked.

"You don't say so. But where?"

"Castle Craven. He's 'boots' at a local pub. I'd turned in there for lunch with Ula Calmady. He was awkward."

Probyn got out of his chair and went and stood with his back to the window. He had a liking for being on his feet when any alarm was sounded.

"By Jove," he said, "by Jove. What a predicament! And he cut you?"

"Dead. That's to say—"

"I wanted a word or two. He spat in my face like an old tomcat."

Probyn made a smooth, deprecating gesture with one hand. Conrad still retained so many of his crudities. He was apt to go off the deep end. He had not cultivated a nice, gentlemanly restraint.

"It made me look a fool—caught with a woman like Ula Calmady."

Probyn raised his eyebrows.

"But—you didn't—?"

"It is likely? But how the devil! Well, you see, when I drove up, the old chap came out and opened the car door. We just glared."

"Very awkward. But, my dear fellow, it makes me feel conscious of a kind of humiliation. 'Boots.' He's an old man."

"He's still a damned tough one."

"My dear fellow, I think we ought to remember—"

Conrad gave his brother a stare and became explanatory and aggrieved. Yes, it was a fact that he and Lady Ula Calmady had been seeing a good deal of each other. He had been minded to bring the affair to a climax on that particular day, and the last thing that he had expected was an anti-climax such as the resurrection of old John. Because you couldn't do anything with old John. He had no instinct for life's business subtleties. You might have tipped another sort of man the wink, a man who was capable of seeing the humor of the thing. "Say, dad, I want to hook this fish. Mum's the word. You take me?" Conrad did not put it quite so boldly, but he made Probyn look a little uncomfortable. After all, who was Ula Calmady? A woman of good family and of the world. Might it not have been better if Conrad had been bold and frank? Taken the situation by the collar?

Conrad threw the end of his cigarette into the grate and reached for another.

"He began it. After all—a fellow needn't lie down under his father's curses. Besides, the whole business was absurd. The old chap cut us in a rotten bad business man. But the question is—"

"Exactly," said Probyn, as though meeting a deputation. "The situation must be considered."

Lance had left Noel Coward's book of plays lying face downwards in the desk chair.

He happened to be wearing tennis shoes, and in strolling along the terrace towards the Dutch garden he came within the range of those two voices. He was thinking of other things. Had he been asked the question he would have replied that there was but little likelihood of his being interested in anything that Uncle Conrad might have to say to his father. At that critical moment, when he was about to pass in front of the library window, he had paused to watch the sunlight making a checker on the grass under one of the cedars. Somewhere, at the back of his consciousness, he heard Conrad's thick voice saying:

"It made me look a fool, caught with a woman like Ula Calmady."

Lance coming back to his realities. He had no intention of listening to his uncle's confidences. The very suggestion that there should be any relationship whatsoever between Conrad and a woman could be nothing but an offense to him. And Lance was about to pass on when he heard something more singular. He could not help hearing it. With one of those flashes of intuition he realized that he had a right to hear it.

They were speaking of his grandfather.

But his grandfather was supposed to be dead.

Lance did not remember old John Pybus. As a very young child, he had seen him but twice and the memories had faded. There was no portrait of the old man in the house.

Beyond the old howling green, that was now a tennis court, and the brick and stone Georgian shadow house with its lead cupola, some one with French feeling had long ago planned a "bosquet." Planted with old yews, box and holly, it held at the end of its little secret path a dim and windowless space paved with worn flagstones. The white figure of a marble nymph poised upon a pedestal and half lost in the dark foliage seemed both to dance and to retreat. A moss stained stone seat stood in a square recess.

Lance stared at the figure of the marble girl, but at the moment it was no more to him than a white blur contrasting with the dark foliage. His face was very grave.

Ten minutes ago he had been standing outside the library window listening to the self-revelations of his father and his uncle. His grandfather was alive. That unknown and rather mysterious old man whom he had been brought up to think of as an eccentric bibliophile continued to exist as "boots" at a country inn. An anomalous figure, a figure that appeared peculiarly disconcerting to those two other men? But how and why? What were the motives that could persuade a man to cut his own father?

And what of his own father? It would appear that Sir Probyn regarded the situation as one that required tactful handling. They ought to do something for the old man. Certainly. But what?

"Well, if you think you can resurrect him after all these years! Have him to live with you, what? Besides, he'd turn you down."

This had come from Uncle Conrad. "Most disconcerting, my dear fellow."

"Call it an infernal complication. I'd put down three hundred a year to pension the old boy; but I'm damned if I want him living within a morning's drive of me as boots at a pub. No, it's not our fault."

Sir Probyn had allowed that such proximity could not be permitted. Something would have to be done. Should the situation become known, it would create a false impression, an unpleasant atmosphere. The world could not be expected to understand old John Pybus's eccentric stubbornness. The world would think—

Tech and Auburn Resume Series Here This Afternoon

Dick Florrid Goes on Hill For Jackets

Game Starts Today at 4 O'Clock; Final Game Tomorrow at 3.

BY ROGER PAGE.

After a decisive victory and defeat for each nine, the Auburn Tigers and Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets will clash this afternoon for the third of the four-game series on Clay field at 4 o'clock.

The Tigers first played host to the Jackets on Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Jackets lost the first conference game of the season. Vengeance was sweet for the Jackets in the second affair, they having won by the count of 11 to 2. "Big" Bill Edwards letting the Tigers down for only four hits.

Warner Mizell came into the limelight in the last affair with the Auburns when he circled the bases for a home run. He was also credited with a double and single. It seems that "Kid" Clay has decided to keep Mizell on the initial sack, especially since the fielding of this young sophomore has improved along with his batting.

Replacement.

Campbell is another graduate from the freshman squad who seems to have made good with the Jackets. On the freshman team, Campbell played in the outfield, but he seems to be as good an infielder as he was a fly catcher. He will probably be in the line-up again today holding down the position left vacant by Ed Crowley who recently resigned from Tech and signed with the Washington Senators.

The decisive win for the Jackets over Stoutenborough, the Auburn finger, was more than an unusual thing. Stoutenborough is considered one of the best flingers in the southern conference. He, too, is only a sophomore, having pitched a 14-inning game last year against the Tech freshmen, only to lose his game by one run.

Improved.

"Big" Bill Edwards also did some of the best pitching seen this season, this being his first appearance on the mound this season. He gave up only four hits in Auburn game. He will be seen quite often from now on, as he has completely gotten over his cold which bothered him the early part of the season.

Dick Florrid will very likely be in the box for the Jackets in the game this afternoon. Dick Florrid has been doing some good work this season, and has plenty of "stuff." The last game Saturday will be played at 3 o'clock.

U.S.G.A. Executive Body Meets In Augusta

Augusta, Ga., April 19.—The executive committee of the United States Golf Association met here today for a two-day session, headed by Mel Traynor, president, and Tommy McMahon, secretary. Although the meetings are behind closed doors, and none of those in attendance would comment on matters to be considered, it was thought probable that the Walker cup team for the approaching international matches would be selected.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Golf Courses.

Pessimism is a terrible affliction. It is conducive to indigestion and all other ailments from fallen arches to pyorrhea. It makes glooming malcontents out of normally bright individuals and in the end does no good whatever.

All of which is not a sermon but the introduction to a short review of conditions at our fair city's golf courses.

Last New Year's day the thermometer had a sinking spell and managed to recover for a time only to suffer from a relapse which threatened to run the mercury out of the bottom of the thermometer.

Loud wails were heard from the camps of the golfers. "The courses—like the criminal hanged at sunrise—would never be the same."

It was reluctantly admitted that new greens might be planted and new fairways might be seeded with some hope of procuring putting surfaces and fairways fit to play on in a few more years but, alas, the jig was up for the coming season.

All that was figuring without the helping hand of Mother Nature, the old dame who works so steadily as first assistant to greens keeper and professional. Today the golf courses of Atlanta, without an exception, are as far along as they usually are at this early period of the season.

It has been this correspondent's pleasure to visit three of the city's best courses in the past three days and in each case a careful inspection of the greens and fairways brought conviction that the pessimists were wasting their time as usual.

At the Capital City club the greens are nearing mid-season form and by the first of July will be as good as the club has ever had. At Druid Hills there are but very few exceptions to the same rule. Some of the unsheltered greens are still marked by a few bare spots but the grass is rapidly encroaching upon these marks of winter's devastating havoc.

At East Lake the same statement applies. By or before Independence day comes with its firecrackers and bogie tournaments the summer greens will be at top form—which is saying considerable.

The courses will never be more beautiful to look upon than they are at this time and this statement does not only apply to the three mentioned above. All courses in the city are taking on their spring finery and though they have some distance to go for perfect playing conditions the scenery will never be more beautiful.

Dogwood is at the height of its bloom, wisteria, bridal wreath and tulips all lend their charm to the clubhouse, grounds and courses while violets add their fragrance to the beautiful perfume of a magnificent par.

The question now seems to be universal in its sameness. It is not a question of "are the courses fit to play upon?" but rather the query, "Why in the name of all that's holy must we work part of the time?"

Producing Philanthropists.

If all the agencies working to contribute funds to the American Olympic fund were to produce as well as the team of Jones and Gunn four-fifths of the entire population of the United States could take a trip to the games this year.

According to figures received from Al Doonan, athletic director of the Atlanta Athletic club and business manager of the Jones-Gunn trip, the famous pair of golfers have netted $1,600 for the Olympic fund in the two exhibition matches in Augusta and Columbia.

This figure is very small in comparison to what will be forthcoming when the great golfers play in Washington and Baltimore next week. It is expected that they will draw from $5,000 to $7,500 in these two cities and there will be six more places on the list after Washington and Baltimore are past. It is safe to say that Robert Tyre Jones and Walter Gann will contribute through their efforts as much as $12,000 to the Olympic fund before they are through. And this figure is conservative.

Three Drivers To Make Speed Trials Today

Keech and Lockhart Will Attempt to Break World Speed Mark.

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 19.—(AP)—Three automobile racers will make bids for two world speed titles on the noted beach course here tomorrow if conditions warrant. It was announced tonight with the arrival of Wilbur Shaw, of Indianapolis, and Ray Keech, of Philadelphia. Frank Lockhart was expected during the night.

Two of the drivers, Lockhart and Keech, will assault the world record of 206.9 miles an hour established last February by Captain Malcolm Campbell, of England, while Shaw will endeavor to lift the world record of 141.7 miles an hour for four cylinder motors.

Lockhart will pilot the Stutz Blackhawk Special which arrived here today—a machine identical to that in which he nearly lost his life in February when it plunged into the ocean at an estimated speed of 225 miles an hour. Keech will drive the big 36-cylinder Triplex of J. M. White, Philadelphia sportsman, which has been here for three weeks awaiting favorable conditions under which to bid for the speed crown. Shaw will make his try in a Whippet four.

Conditions on the beach tonight indicated that the race could be held tomorrow about low tide, which comes at 1:48 p. m. The beach is smooth and hard packed from favorable winds and tides, and it is believed that its condition would not change by tomorrow. The trials may be held an hour before or after extreme low water.

It was certain the Triplex and Whippet would at least try out during the day. Lockhart's machine has not been unloaded from its freight car yet, but will run, it is believed, if Lockhart arrives in time.

S.S.A. TEAMS MAKE READY FOR OPENING

The ninth annual baseball season of the S. S. A. will get under way Saturday afternoon on the various Atlanta diamonds with a schedule of six games drawing every team in the association into action. All games start at 3 o'clock.

Fryer Street Presbyterian nine, winner of the National league flag last season, has been placed in the American league with Grace, and with Druid Hills Baptist, Westminster, West End Baptist and Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the matching is about even.

In the National league, Jackson Hill is a dark horse, for there is a list of brilliant stars who have performed on the Atlanta diamonds before. Gordon Street, Edgewood Baptist, Capitol Avenue and Cascade will make of a problem for any pennant-seeking aggregation.

SCHEDULE:
Fryer Street Presbyterian at Druid Hills Baptist, southwest Piedmont.
Westminster Presbyterian at Grace Methodist, Henry Grady.
West End Baptist at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Large Grant park.
Edgewood Baptist at Gordon Street Presbyterian, Moreley Park.
Jackson Hill Baptist at Morningdale, Highland avenue.
Capitol Avenue Baptist at Cascade Avenue Baptist, Cascade diamond.

lies in the eighth. Vick doubled to left as a starter and McCarren followed with a single to right, scoring him. The next two batters were retired, but McCarren stole second and scored from there when Gardner singled to left. Padgett followed with a double to left and went to third when Zoeller let the ball get away from him. Gardner scored on the play.

Angley and Dudley counted two runs for Atlanta in the seventh. After one was out, Angley singled to center and was advanced to second by Mills' infield out. BUNION CREW 1,761 MI. OUT; PAYNE LEADS Joplin, Mo., April 19.—(AP)—Jogging steadily ahead in a downpour of rain, Andrew Payne, of Claremore, Okla., today traversed the corner of Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri in the cross-country marathon, and substantially increased his elapsed time lead over Peter Gavuzzi, of Southampton, England.

Payne finished sixth in a dead heat with Philip Granville and Thomas Ellis, of Hamilton, Ont., in 6:33:56, bringing his elapsed time to 294:16:18. Gavuzzi was twenty-first into the night-control point in 8:40:02 for an elapsed time of 295:55:40, which places him 90 minutes behind the Oklahoma.

Out to show his native Missourians, and make good his boast of being first to enter his native state, John Gohler, Moberly, Mo. flash, finished first today in 5:35:51, having traversed the 41-mile stretch at an average speed of eight miles an hour. His elapsed time is 445:48:01.

The race is 1,761 miles out of Los Angeles, the starting point March 4.

Only One Member Of Dempsey Jury Has Seen a Fight

New York, April 19.—(AP)—The legal extravaganza of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, featuring an argument over $701,026.66, opened with a dress rehearsal today before Judge John C. Knott in United States district court. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning after a half-hour session during which the jury was chosen.

Kearns, who piloted Jack to the championship, charges breach of his contract with Dempsey and seeks to recover one-third of the former titleholder's earnings from 1923 through Dempsey's losing title fray with Gene Tunney in 1926.

The judge, busy on another case, kept the contestants fidgeting in their corners almost three hours. During the wait Dempsey autographed countless cards, talked with reporters, chatted with T. J. Rickard, and swapped surreptitious glances with Kearns, once his inseparable pal. The jury was chosen within 30 minutes after Judge Knott appeared. Only two challenges were made, both by Kearns' attorneys. One man rejected was a fight fan who had seen Dempsey in action. The United States decided in stock of the Madison Square Garden.

Only one member of the jury finally chosen ever has seen a prize fight.

IN REBUTTAL TO ALL CHAMPIONS.

Slug, you Ruth, while the rafters ring,

Tunney, lead as you hook and swing,

I'd rather come with a song to sing

Merely piking along;

Any old song on the daily job

With a touch of drama, a touch of throb,

Looks better to me than T. R. Cobb,

If only I had the song.

Who should envy the winning bloke

When a youngster comes with a stouter poke,

And fifty usually finds them broke

With never a job in sight?

Who should envy their sporting fame

Or what they get from the mob's acclaim

When you know the toll of the ancient game

As the same mob yells "Good Night!"

I'd rather be a bush league bard

And take my shot at the year's reward

Where the game goes on, though the road is hard,

Than be a Tunney or Ruth;

Or a Hagen, Dempsey or Dazzy Vance,

Who know their hour of brief romance,

Then look in vain for a sporting chance

As soon as they've lost their youth.

The young army arrives, but it is on the way, and it will not be long before there will be a influx of Browns, Athletics, Uhles, Klings and maybe another Cobb or Speaker.

TRANSMISSISSIPPI.

Another Campus Clouter.

Mr. Eugene Tunney, the famous boxer, may some day be called upon to swap punches with a young man who can sling, adjectives and antipodes with the same abandon as the Speculator Sage. Out at Notre Dame, Jack McGrath is showing more prowess with the pulpit miter than he did on the gridiron, and Rockne rates him as a fair tackle. McGrath is only 23 and weighs 192 pounds. He has shown a healthy punch in his few amateur bouts and won the approval of Jim Corbett when the old champion saw him in action. McGrath will be a senior next year and intends entering the professional ring game after he has finished with Knute Rockne.

Miss Maddox Cops Women's Golf Crown

Defeats Mrs. L. H. Beck 2-1 in Final Match Over Druid Hills Course.

BY WHITNER CARY.

Shooting the same consistent brand of golf that marked her journey through the early rounds of play, Miss Margaret Maddox defeated Mrs. L. H. Beck, 2-1, Thursday morning in the final round of the spring handicapped golf tournament of the Atlanta Women's Golf association, held over the Druid Hills course. Mrs. A. R. Gallenkamp won in the second flight, defeating Mrs. Roy Burns, 4-3, while Mrs. F. L. Fowler took first honors in the third flight by winning from Mrs. Albert Jones, 7-6.

Miss Maddox, who had all departments of her very good game working smoothly, was out in 41. This brand of golf was good enough to enable her to turn two up on her opponent. Although Miss Maddox's work on the return jaunt was slightly below her performance on the outgoing trip, Mrs. Beck was unable to cut the lead away and the match ended on the seventeenth green. Miss Maddox had a 46 on the return journey, which added to her 41 for the outgoing trip gave her an 87 for the round. Mrs. Beck, who was in receipt of six strokes from Miss Maddox, turned in a 95 for the 18 holes.

Mrs. Gallenkamp found some stiff opposition from Mrs. Burns, but managed to tuck the match away on the fifteenth green. Mrs. Fowler was in impressive fashion from Mrs. Jones in a match that was brought to a conclusion on the twelfth green.

The tournament, the first match play event of the season, brought on a large entry list and produced some very keen competition. The next event on the schedule of the association is the city championship, which will be held at a date yet to be announced. It probably will be held during the early part of May.

Bates, Francis Get Unconditional Releases

Just before leaving for Macon to watch the Peaches win their opening day Sally league game, Colonel R. J. Spiller, of the Crackers, announced to all and sundry that he had released two Atlanta pitchers, unconditionally. The two hurlers are Ray Francis and Red Bates. Waiters were asked on Francis last Saturday, but no Southern association club claimed him and he was cut loose. Bates was released in order to make room for Tom Rogers, recently reinstated. Francis is a left-hander and Bates a right-hander.

Hispano-Suiza Beats Stutz BUT STUDEBAKER COMMANDER Still Holds Highest Records

Erroneous statements have appeared in the press concerning yesterday's race at Indianapolis between a Stutz and a Hispano-Suiza.

Even if either of these cars had established a new 24-hour record, the Studebaker Commander would not have ceased to be the world's champion car. This title was earned, not by a 24-hour sprint, but by maintaining better than mile-a-minute speed continuously for sixteen days and nights—25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes total elapsed time.

BUT, as a matter of fact, the Hispano-Suiza averaged less than 71 miles per hour for 17 hours and 21 minutes. The Studebaker Commander averaged more than 75 miles per hour for 24 consecutive hours.

The Studebaker Commander still holds the highest records for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price. Nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast. It is the world's champion car. Drive it before you buy any other.
